Foreword

This, the first year since D Day and V J Day, has been one of adjustment. In some ways things came back to normal . . . many of our fathers, brothers, and sweethearts are home . . . Selective Service let some of us finish our school year . . . fewer work permits were necessary . . . noon classes were dropped from the second semester schedule . . . veterans are back with discharge buttons.

Yet, the year was colored by the lingering echoes of war . . . investing in the last War Bond Drive . . . bringing gifts for the wounded soldiers at Christmas . . . contributing to the Red Cross . . . adding new names to the Honor Roll Plaque . . . accepting shortages in films and flash bulbs.

But our little Indian, typical of all Pocatello High School Indians, past and present, saw us through the year. As you look through the pages of the 1946 Pocatellian, you will find our interpretation of one of the best years of Poky High. We hope that you will take it down from the shelf many times to recapture the memories of our work and play together.

It takes many events and personalities to make up a school year. As you think over the changing scenes of the last months, you see the pop-eyed freshman as he looks for his first classes, the Council girls who know just where they're going, the athlete with crew haircut, and "P" sweater, the faculty member who recently gave up his olive drab to get back into his business suit.

But out of all the varied people in our school, one takes the spot-light, as our little Indian looks us over with a critical eye. And to her, this teacher who is a school sports-fan supreme—who has a friendly smile for all—who is a capable classroom teacher—who has a sense of fairness and a sparkling humor—who understands the ways of students—to her, Miss Vivian Hanson, we affectionately dedicate our 1946 Pocatellian.

Good luck to a

The Poky High students really proved themselves successful when they rallied to the fields to help the Bannock County farmers with their harvest. Levis, plaid shirts, and stiff muscles and joints were the outstanding fads of those two October weeks. Between the 4th and the 22nd of October, the students of Poky High earned $21,196.43. Congratulations to the 227 girls and the 268 boys who came to the aid of their country

GEORGE N. GREEN, Superintendent of Schools

First, the little Indian must meet the man who calls the tribe together to give them counsel so all can see the way that they should go. Fortunately is our school for having an administrator who is a friend of all the students and who knows high school girls and boys. Our superintendent has a keen interest in the affairs of the village, makes good speeches, enjoys athletic events, raises flowers and was the vital force behind the state movement for teacher legislation.

STANLEY S. SPAID, Principal

We shall name our principal "Fleet Foot," for he is to be seen hurrying from one job to another, supervising, organizing, checking, counseling. All the schedules, activities, and class achievements are in his ken. Got his start in life in Montpelier. . . got his diploma from Poky . . . was teacher and dean of boys at Poky . . . toiled on his doctorate at Ann Arbor . . . history prof. at Gunnison, Colorado. Welcome home to Poky High!

Members are (Clockwise) Mr. H. B. Yearsley, Mr. Ephriam Sorensen, Mr. Green (superintendent), Mr. Charles H. Bohrer, Mr. Vernell Hurst (business manager), Mr. E. L. Dale, Mr. Luvern C. Johnson, Mr. Leroy E. Jones.

The Right Men In The Right Place

Fortunate is the school system with capable directors. Six leading citizens, our superintendent and the business manager comprise the Board of Education. It sets the policies of the school; employs teachers, secretaries, and custodians; purchases books and equipment; and sees that the school property is cared for. It functions as efficiently as any other business organization. Despite serious problems, including a shortage of good teachers, the board has the confidence of all the patrons of the schools.

To this small group, Vernell C. Hurst, D. Lm. Smith, Elna Faye Williams and LaVon Curtis are intrusted the duties of administering vital parts of the school machinery. Many students never see them, for their work is "behind the scenes."

EUNICE H. CONGLETON

NADINE TUCKER

E. "RIP" GLEDHILL

Big Chiefs Head Reservation

Completing the administrative offices are the registrar, Miss Congleton, and the deans, Miss Tucker and Mr. Gledhill. They deal individually with Poky's students in helping them to solve many of their difficulties. Since most of their work lies in the problems dealing with attendance, they spend many hours at the telephone, write dozens of letters a day, handle the attendance and personal record cards over and over. Fortunate, indeed, are the pupils who know discipline firmly but kindly administered. Transcripts go out from these offices to all parts of the globe since our G. I.'s have become so education-conscious.

Math and Commercial subjects are especially valuable these days. Shorthand, office machines and clerical work prepare students to hold jobs. Math courses are a "must" for fellows interested in aviation. $AX^2 + BX + C = 0$, an equation is on the road to the knowledge of math.

MISS HANSON likes traveling by car and also the great-out-of-doors, she dislikes window shades that won't work.

MRS. HEARD enjoys cooking and reading; also traveling, washing dishes is a pet peeve.

MISS MOORE likes to pan gold on the Salmon River but hates to shovel snow. . . . MISS GILES likes to play bridge and to cook; dislikes study halls and lazy students. . . .

MISS MCALISTER also likes to play bridge and to dance; hates to see people throw at the waste basket and miss. . . .

MRS. HERMAN likes Bugs Bunny in the movies and to munch salted peanuts; she doesn't like to go to bed or to have her picture taken. . . .

MRS. BAKER likes to go hunting and to fish in Yellowstone Lake; she doesn't think she'd like riding in an airplane. . . .

MRS. BERRETT loves to collect poetry and to cook but hates to get up in the morning. . . .

MISS SLATTER likes to ice skate, to bowl, and to dance; she, also, detests getting up in the morning. . . .

MRS. GROSSMAN who left at the end of the first semester to be with her husband, recently discharged, enjoys cooking, mystery stories, high school students; dislikes bridge and soap operas.

MRS. TALLMADGE is another bridge fan who also likes to dance; she prefers staying in bed in the morning. . . .

MR. ZIEBARTH likes Wallace Beery and to hear Jack Benny on the radio; dislikes waffles and carrots.

At the beginning of the second semester we were glad to have Mr. Keiler back, even though he had to negotiate on crutches. Here he conducts an ambitious class in business arithmetic.

MR. BEVIS enjoys collecting rocks, skiing, and skating; he hates the Army . . . MR. BROWN likes fishing, carpenter work, and gardening; doesn't like to go to things away from home at night . . . MR. STAUBER likes historical novels, ice cream, and mechanical work; noisy kids bother him . . . MR. WHITLOW is fond of archery, and loves to hike; he can't stand oatmeal and hates to get up in the morning . . . MR. GLINDEMAN enjoys gardening and watching basketball games; he doesn't like students who lack self-discipline . . . MR. JUDD likes to hunt and fish and doesn't like noisy study halls . . . MR. QUINE is fond of music of all kinds, having a record collection, but doesn't enjoy listening to boogie woogie . . . MR. FAWSON likes movies, golf, and the trips to Salt Lake to select costumes for the operetta; he dislikes spinach and putting on shows . . . MR. O'BRIEN likes sports, especially football, hunting, and fishing, has no particular dislikes . . . MISS van GAASBEEK'S favorite pastimes are modern dance and psychology books; she definitely dislikes masculine girls . . . MISS HILSWICK enjoys snow, bicycle riding, the Fred Allen program, and the Metropolitan opera broadcasts; she doesn't like rain and wind, spinach, or parsnips . . . MISS KING likes shrimps, riding in the rain, working in a flower garden; she dislikes mystery stories, wind, and snakes

The camera catches Elda Hutchinson, Don Hanners, and Bert Arnold as they delve into the mysteries of the atom. Mr. Stauber stands by to prevent any unexpected reactions, while David Johnson watches the proceedings with interest.

Music, art, physical education, and library are all important subjects with hundreds of students enrolled. P. E. is required of all students; music attracts hundreds in its various activities; art III has been added to the regular art curriculum; and library is increasingly popular.

Students in Poky may take two foreign languages Latin, and Spanish. In the social science classes they discuss everything from making out a family budget to dealing with Japan. Home Ec students learn cooking, serving meals, home-making, care of children, marketing, and nutrition.

MISS EVANS likes basketball games and loves to drive her car; she doesn't like to miss school.

MRS. GUNNELL likes big gooey chocolates and pop corn; she dislikes people who pop gum or talk aloud in the movies . . .

MISS HOFFMAN enjoys reading and likes to listen to a talk by someone who knows what he is talking about; she doesn't like people who expect special privileges that they know others can't share in having . . .

MISS BELL desires reading a good book in bed; she abominates seeing and hearing people chewing gum . . .

MISS COTANT says she likes almost everything; doesn't care much for interviews . . .

MISS TRAWICK likes to sit in the middle of the floor and read the newspaper, also to eat pecan pie for breakfast; she can't stand milk.

MISS MILLER actually likes to get up early in the morning. She dislikes monkeys and masquerades . . .

MRS. CHUTE likes to read poetry in a hammock in the summer; dislikes people who are always making up work . . .

MRS. MERCER likes to play bridge and to hear mystery plays on the radio; she can't bear soap operas . . .

MISS DANA likes food of all kinds and pretty flower gardens; she hates to try on hats . . .

MISS SMITHAM enjoys writing verse and crocheting; hates mud . . .

MR. WALTON likes to play bridge and to play the piano; he can do without costume parties and jitterbugging.

Teachers prepare fried chicken for their autumn get-together. Miss Smitham, Miss Dana, Miss McAlister, Miss Slatter, and Mrs. Chute all agree it looks good.

At the Christmas tea, Miss Hanson "pours" while Miss Hoffman, Mrs. Whitlow, Mr. Green, and Mr. Whitlow approach the candle-lighted tea table. Mrs. Mercer, one of the hostesses, is glad to see that every one is happy.

MISS THOMPSON likes to meet deadlines, likes Pocotellian staffs, fishing for wall-eyes, autumn in Idaho, trains, and church windows; she doesn't care for most radio programs, frilly clothes, or washing windows . . . MRS. SCOTT enjoys spending her spare time with her small son, and collecting symphony recordings; doesn't like to chew gum . . . MISS BOWLER likes ice cream, clouds, and candle-light . . . MISS KINGSLEY actually enjoys doing dishes, and she delights in trying on hats with no intention of buying; hates to pick spuds . . . MISS PARKER loves her nephews, music, and Mark Twain; detests arithmetic, asparagus, and angleworms . . . MRS. WHITLOW likes dogs, mystery stories, snow-fall, Thespian Club, and Con Carver; doesn't care for snakes, shrimps, or boogie woogie . . . MISS MATTSON is fond of good food, good jokes, and maple leaves in autumn; she can't stand garlic or soap operas . . . MISS BROKMEYER likes good music and to read, abhors the everlasting wind that blows doors, she also enjoys swimming, good plays, and good music, she doesn't like noise, carelessness, or poor conversation . . . MRS. MCPHERSON likes to read and to travel if she can go how and when she happens to feel like it . . . MR. BERRETT loves picture shows, T-bone steaks, fishing, and grand opera; disapproves of seniors who try to get by.

President's Cabinet meets with Mr. Spaid, principal, to discuss plans for decorating the school for the Christmas season. Through the cabinet, closer co-operation between the Student-body and the executive department can be achieved. Represented are Herman McDevitt, School Attorney; Imogene Crowell, School Treasurer; Grace Merrill, Red Cross chairman; Con Carver, Student Body President; Mr. Spaid, Principal; Dick Brown, Public Relations Chairman; Joan Ziebarth, School Secretary; and Parr Sainsbury, Student Body Vice-president.

CHIEF COUNCIL LEADS TRIBES

All the newest tricks in school government are tried out in Poky, for the good old tried and true have worked so well that they have become automatic. We are proud of our organization, it has been copied by many other schools because there is a maximum of student responsibility and a minimum of faculty guidance.

Through student government, the administrators and faculty make contact with a large group of cabinet members, school officers, senators, class representatives, council members, roll clerks, and many others.

The framework of the constitution and the general scheme of our government are based upon our national government in Washington.

This year our legislators ratified new bills for dramatic awards and letters, and considered various means of getting the school into a postwar scheme of activity. The Senate ratified all selections for positions on the staffs, teams, and play casts. The House meets occasionally on questions of school policy. The court tries the offenders and punishes those found guilty. Strange as it may seem, most students are eager to conform to laws that are made for the benefit of all.

Correspondence with other schools, taking minutes of Senate meetings, filing school government papers, aiding in the election balloting are several of the duties called upon to be performed by secretary, Joan Ziebarth. We catch a glimpse of Joan taking notes in Senate meeting. Through such students, efficiency is a keynote in our school government.

To a fellow senator...
I hope your stay as senator is your happy year!

"Unprejudiced justice for everyone" is the motto of our School Court. Through the advisership of Dean of Boys, "Rip" Gledhill, and the leadership of our school attorney, Herman McDevitt, the Court has tried and with all the success possible, carried out its motto. It is in its jurisdiction to try all cases of violation of the school laws. Its sentences include everything from a fine to ten hours of window-washing around the school. The Court meets every Tuesday morning in the school government room to decide and try the cases presented to it by the traffic officers of "P" Club

INVESTED IN VICTORY

Selling stamps and bonds are Florence Richmond, Dick Brown, and Naomi Larsen. An important branch of our school government is the Public Relations Committee. Under the capable leadership of Public Relations Chairman, Dick Brown, the committee has successfully put us over the top in the school's Victory Loan Drive. It is also through this department that our school Service Honor Roll is kept intact.

TRAFFIC SQUAD KEEPS ORDER

Members of the traffic squad seen in the picture are Le Roy Frear, Dennis Price, Charles Dickson, Gene Dolton, Eddie Trujillo, Duane Dudley, David Thomas, Robert Owens, Bob Parrott, Larry Young, Jay Taggart, Bill Borton, Ralph Tucker, and Joe Sato. It is the duty of the traffic squad to see that the laws of the school are enforced and to arrest all the defiers of the laws.

BANK HANDLES WAMPUM

Relaxing in the bank are the School Treasurer, Imogene Crowell, Echo Dell Parkin, assistant adviser, Mr. Ziebarth, and President of the Bank, Junior Smith. It is through this department that all of the school's finances are handled. With the agile leadership of "Z", the members of the bank handle all of the clubs, classes, and activities' money. It is their job to sell tickets to all school activities.

Senior Class of '46

As the silver grey clouds form in the golden sunset my thoughts carry me back to a bright day—On that fateful hour we all gathered for the first time in the camp ground, each with plans and hopes for the events to come—Everyone discarded his feathers and grew beards (?) and pigtails for an outstanding week climaxed with the big medicine dance known as "Hard Times"—With the coming of the new year, came our fancy jewelry which blazed like the sun itself—Down from the heavens came the dreamy "Tepee in the Blue" or "Castle in the Sky" as was the Senior Ball called; "Never before in history," said the tribesmen, had the Indians been so far away and close to the Happy Hunting Ground—With a beautiful simple melody, we all joined hearts in our Senior Song and relived moments that were never to be forgotten—All credit must go to the seniors as a whole, for without their co-operation, the accomplishments of the moons would never have been achieved—As in a mist far away, we hope and plan for the day we'll all meet again in the old stamping ground and live again the wonderful times—

Now that the light of day has nearly vanished, we can only go forward with this thought in mind—do better than we can, always—And as the star in the sky does point forward— follow it—

Student Honors and Faculty Responsibilities

The much coveted honor of being valedictorian and salutatorian went to Barbara Gasser and Nola Jean Evans respectively. Their scholarship ratings well-nigh reached perfection. Not only have they been able to pile 10's upon 10's, but they have also done more than their share in clubs, assemblies, and activities, and they have had the jolly good times that only very bright and very energetic people can have.

The women in the front row are Miss Bowler, Miss Parker, Mrs. Chute, Miss Hoffman. The men in the background are Mr. Quine and Mr. Judd.

Any faculty members who have had dealings with the graduates of 1946 will always have pleasant memories of lasting friendships with the eager and idea-packed senior class. They have been cooperative, always.

The teachers in this group have served as advisers and consultants in various capacities. Miss Hoffman, Mrs. Chute, Mr. Quine, and Mr. Judd have divided the responsibilities of home room activities, such as parties, assemblies, collection of fees, commencement and many others. Miss Bowler coached the senior play, and Miss Parker is making the arrangements for the senior breakfast.

 REMEMBER THE OLD DAYS

Class of 1947

Chief Lauray Fereday, second chief De Lo Tubbs, and squaws Sharon Chambers and Virginia "Vicky" Graves were elected tribe heads at the beginning of the ninth moon, forty-fifth fall. They have kept the drums beating while the tribesmen watched the seasons come and go and enjoyed the pleasures of the reservation, until the waning of the summer of '46.

Members of the Junior tribe have been active in many camp activities. Brian Mottishaw had the tenor lead in the operetta; Sharon Chambers and Ruth Bilyeu won the Junior tribe debate championship, and Parr Sainsbury was elected Student Body vice-president. Zina Madison, one of the more active squaws of the tribe, was appointed to lead the pow-wow (assembly to you). This had them all rolling in the aisles of the old tepee. Because of their fine acting in the One-Acts, many achieved parts in the All-School Play.

The annual Round-up came in November, everyone appearing in costume to imitate Story-Book characters and Popular Song titles. Highlighting the evening's fun was a pie-eating contest won by Dennie Butterfield, who received a pie for his prize. What a shock when he gave it back to Chief Fereday right in the face!

When the flowers were blooming in the spring, tra-la, all the maidens and braves danced in the moonlight at the annual Prom.

An unusual event this year was the announcement and presentation of the Junior Class Song written by Squaws Lois Cullen and Virginia Graves.

As we leave this year's encampment and travel to the senior camp, we realize that the sophomores will be invading the Junior Stamping Ground, and the juniors will then be the seniors of "Poky High."

Junior senators—David McMillan, Norma Monroe, and Tom Begley—are photographed in the upper hall, south wing.

Fascinating costumes and spirited games were in order at the junior party held No vember 30. Winners were Cleo Bailey and Lauray Fereday

Sophomores Take Active Part In School Activities

It's not the United Nations Convention, Kiddies; It's just the Sophomore Class Party costume-winners, namely, Lucy Baird, Stan Sobin, and the jitterbug contest-winners, Art Shuster and Sally Cox.

With a sigh of relief at the start of a year when they would no longer be "freshies," the sophs got into the harness ready to gallop through all their fun and frolics. At their party, historical and fictitious people came alive: harlem dancing girls, Pocahontas, Carmen Miranda, Buffalo Bill. One clever girl took the party committee-bulletin seriously and came as a "prize package." You guessed it brother, it did take a prize. Sophs took part in all school projects: One-Acts, Debate (You aren't kidding), Music, Athletics. The assembly was cleverly done, too, revealing unexpected talent for comedy.

Praises to Allah & No kids it's just the Freshman Class party, and their pie eating contest!

Papagoes Have Successful Year On Reservation

Relaxation on the reservation during the noon hour is illustrated by the Freshman Class Officers: Barry Todd, V. Pres., Faye Daniels, Treasurer, Jerry Briggs, Secretary; and Paul Gledhill, Pres.

Handwritten note: "The original 'I'm looking for the Study Hall' of you!"

"Lost, freshie? This is Miss Hanson's solid class."

"I'm looking for the Study Hall"—this, meekly, and here are dozens of freshmen—swarming into the building, evacuees from Irving and Franklin—small fry with fresh complexions, others beginning to grow out of their Christmas sweaters. Wouldn't you like to take this one up on your knee and feed him a cookie?

Yet, not many weeks passed before the frosh showed they meant business: they were good workers (take a look at the Honor Roll); many of them held jobs; they soon found their way into activities. Yes, the freshmen have, indeed grown up.

COACHES

During the first half of the season, the team was coached by Herb Glindeman; and then returning to the position he had left when he entered the army in '42, Jimmy O'Brien acted as the head coach the remainder of the season. Apparently handicapped by a lack of experienced ball players, these coaches molded an eleven which showed surprising ability and determination. This year they were assisted by manager Dennis Price. Our coaching staff has already turned its attention to next year's Redskin eleven

THE "45" TOTEM POLE

While the season this year was not as successful in wins and losses as is the tradition of Pocatello, the season was distinguished in several other respects. It showed promise of greater things to come, and the underclassmen who received experience under O'Brien this year will have the training that the squad lacked. Under the tutelage of a returned-serviceman coaching staff next year, the Indians will avenge some of this year's defeats. The season was also a good one in respect to the sportsmanship and cooperation that the "45" gridgers learned. The team never once let the home fans down and provided some of the most thrilling games that the home town has seen in years. And as long as the members of this year's squad live, they will look back on the "45" season as one of the best times in their lives.

O'Brien gives the team the works during the half.

POKY SPLITS WITH PRESTON

In the first game of the season, the Redskin Squad showed fine spirit and moments of fine play. However, because of early season jitters and fumbleitis, the Indians fell behind. They pulled together in the last quarter and drove for a touchdown in the final seconds of the game and tied the game in a last-minute thriller, 6-6.

TIGERS CLAW INDIANS

The Indians began the game by grabbing the Tiger by the tail and scoring in the first quarter. The I.F. squad retaliated by scoring with two long passes in the last minutes of the half. The clock ran out before the Indians could complete their bid for victory, and the Tigers won 12-7.

HONOR SQUAD

The superb playing of five Indians placed them among the ranks of all-state honor roll. Displaying the stamina and courage customary to the Redskins, they demonstrated outstanding versatility and ability. Eddie Trujillo, the hardest charging back in the state was selected for left half. Other members of the squad who distinguished themselves in their respective spots were: Leroy Frear—rt, Charles Dickson—lt, Harold Frear—rg, Matthew Dudenake—le.

REDSKINS REPULSED BY LOGAN

For the first time in four years the Logan squad invaded the Poky Gridiron in one of the wettest games of the year. They scalped the Indians to the tune of 7-0.

NAMPA HUMBLER INDIANS

Unable to pass the 30 yard line, the Indians were completely baffled in a night game held at Nampa with a score of 34-0. The Poky Student Body was well represented among the freezing crowd.

CAPITOL BRAVES SCALP REDSKINS

In the first conference game of the season, the Braves of Boise dropped an improving Indian squad to the tune of 21-0. The Redskins displayed power, and the Braves had to struggle for victory.

TWIN FALLS BOWS TO POKY

Showing great improvement in blocking and tackling, the Indians forced the Bruins to accept defeat under the attack of the charging Redskins. Trounced to the tune of 12-0, the Bruins were unable to cross the mid-field stripe the entire game.

INDIANS TOMAHAWK CALDWELL

The publicity favoring the Cougars meant nothing to the Pocatello Redskins. Coming from one of the cellar spots in the Big Six conference, Pocatello knocked over the Caldwell Cougars, 20-18. Trujillo sparked the team for one first down after another.

Indians On The Rampage

"Well, at least we went to the State Tournament; we had a lot of hard luck. The boys fought hard, but the breaks didn't come at the right time; we'll be back next year fighting for the crown at all times," exclaimed Rip Gledhill at the conclusion of the season. For seventeen years now, Rip has under his able hands tutored the Indians to a spot in the state tournament; this year was no exception to the rule. Manager Dick Brown did his job with complete thoroughness; and at the end of the season underwent the traditional shower, clothes and all. Assistant Coach Herb Glindeman turned out a highly creditable sophomore and freshman squad by toppling over the majority of their opponents. Herb was assisted by the junior managers, Herby Steffens and Clifford Taylor.

The season was one of many defeats and few wins, but to Poky fans the games were superb from the standpoint that they were full of excitement until the final whistle had blown. The team placed second in the district tournament, held at Poky, where it lost a thrilling final game, with Preston winning 38-25. Pocatello was host to the invading teams of the state tournament, where Poky was scalped by the Rupert Pirates in the first play of the tourney, 33-30. The following night, Poky players redeemed themselves by trouncing Caldwell to the tune of 47-26, only to be beaten the day after by Nampa in the consolation finals. Preston emerged victorious in the South Basketball Championship, and later, in the All-State Tournament, trampled Couer d'Alene in two successive nights' play, held at Poky. American Falls won the Class "B" Championship over Kendrick in competition, also at Poky.

THE INDIANS ON PARADE

Bill Barton (13) goes high into the air for a well-placed set-up; all set to go into the air at the slightest pretext are Ralph Tucker (23) and Con Carver (12) who are standing-by waiting further developments

How many hands are in the pie? Basketball is not so soft after all, ask Jack Carey (19) whose face expresses the agony of the situation, Con Carver, too, (12) doesn't look as if he is enjoying the predicament.

Ralph Tucker, forward, senior, with two years varsity experience, was one of the high scorers of the Redskin squad, he also received honorable mention on all-district and the state tournament squads.

Jack Carey, center, senior, was one of the finest defensive players Poky has had in many years, scrappy but showing coolness when he was in a tight spot—all this with many additions awarded him a spot on the all-district team.

Charles Dickson, forward, senior, played excellent ball in both tournaments, where he placed on the all-district five team. Outstanding in both offensive and defensive play, he led the team for scoring.

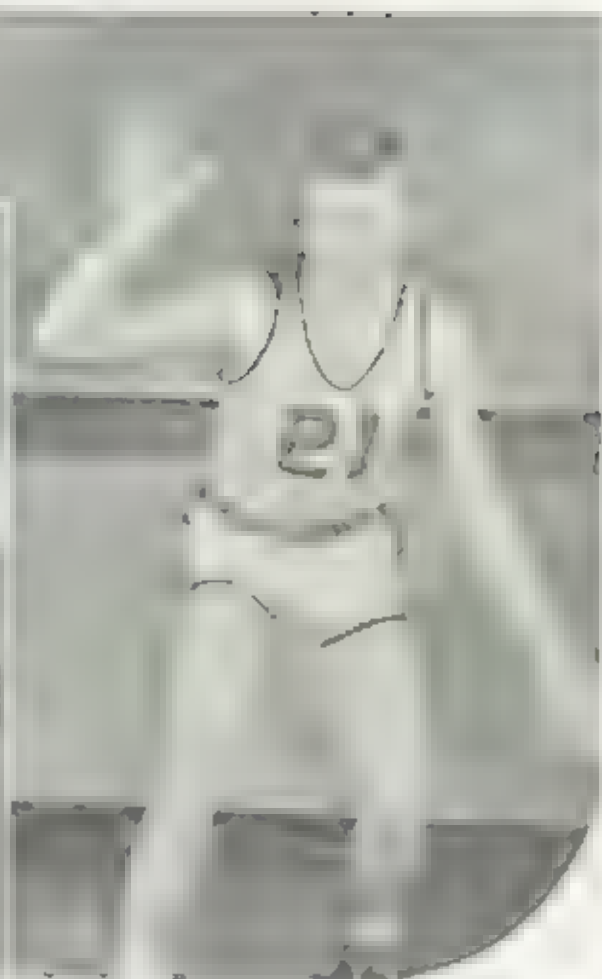

Con Carver, guard, senior, the best backboard man in the state, fastest interceptor, and the scrappiest player on the Poky squad, was placed on the first all-state team besides his selection on the all-district squad.

Bill Borton, forward, senior, with two years varsity experience, was undoubtedly the fastest man on the team; this, combined with his speedy dribbling and aggressiveness, added up to the fine coordination of an outstanding athlete.

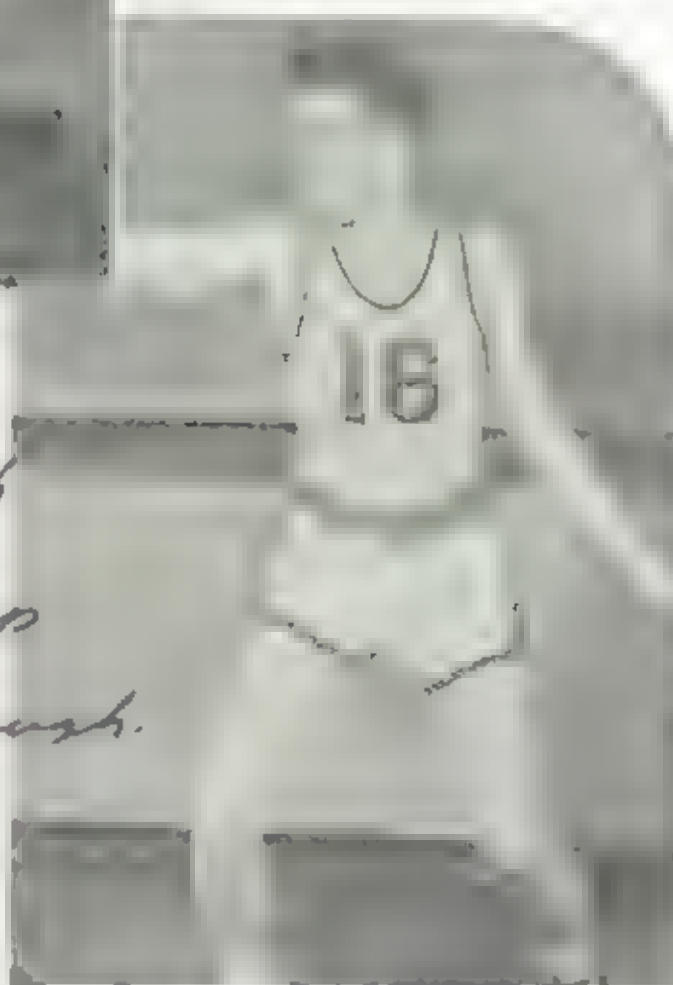

Wally Farnes, junior, famous for his long shots in the position of guard for the Redskins, and the crowd will always remember that Wally was in there fighting for the Red at all times.

Dear Harriet,
it sure was a nice surprise to see you and then to hear you on the loose, and then to hear you say "Hi Boy!!" in the crowd. I'll see you around next time when I'm a senior.
Pat

Jack Roberts, sophomore, displayed coolness that was a sign that in the years to come the Indian squad will be far ahead in having excellent players to lead the field.

Parr Sainsbury, junior, played the position of center on the second five; he is known for his superb handling of the ball at all times and the well placed push shots he accomplished.

Earl Dahlstrom, junior, was unable to earn his letter with the Indian squad this year, but he displayed the spirit that he would be out there fighting for a spot and the letter next year.

Dear Harriet,
How one of my best girl. With no your really tops, always keep that personality and that cute laugh.

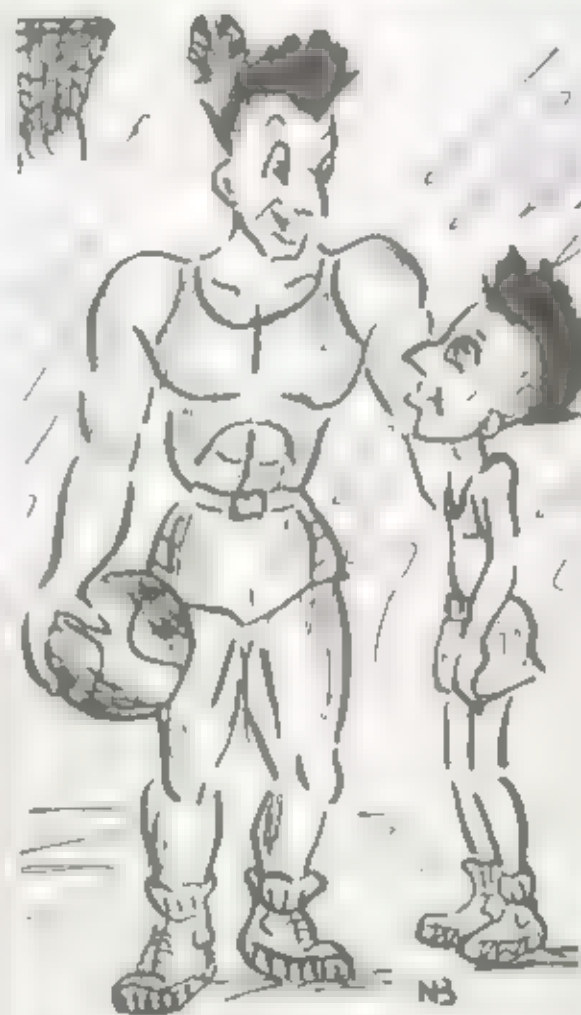

Fred Chase, junior, played in the position of guard on the main team where he showed outstanding ability in this spot; his supreme passing and aggressiveness stood out at all times.

Good luck in everything you do.
Hope you are victorious in "Chase".

THE BIG CHIEFS

Ralph Tucker, Bill Borton, Jack Carey, Con Carver, Charles Dickson

Matthew Dudenake
Roy Hedlund

Charles Dickson (22) shoots the old apple for a score against Idaho Falls breaking away from Olsen. Such maneuvers, coupled with his tricky push shots under the backboard enabled Dickson to be on the first all-district team.

Matthew Dudenake, senior, played excellent ball in forward position at the first of the season earning his letter in the sport. He is known for his fine hook shots under the board.

Roy Hedlund, senior, also played regular at the center position during the first of the season. One remembers Roy by the fast and well placed push shots that he completed consistently.

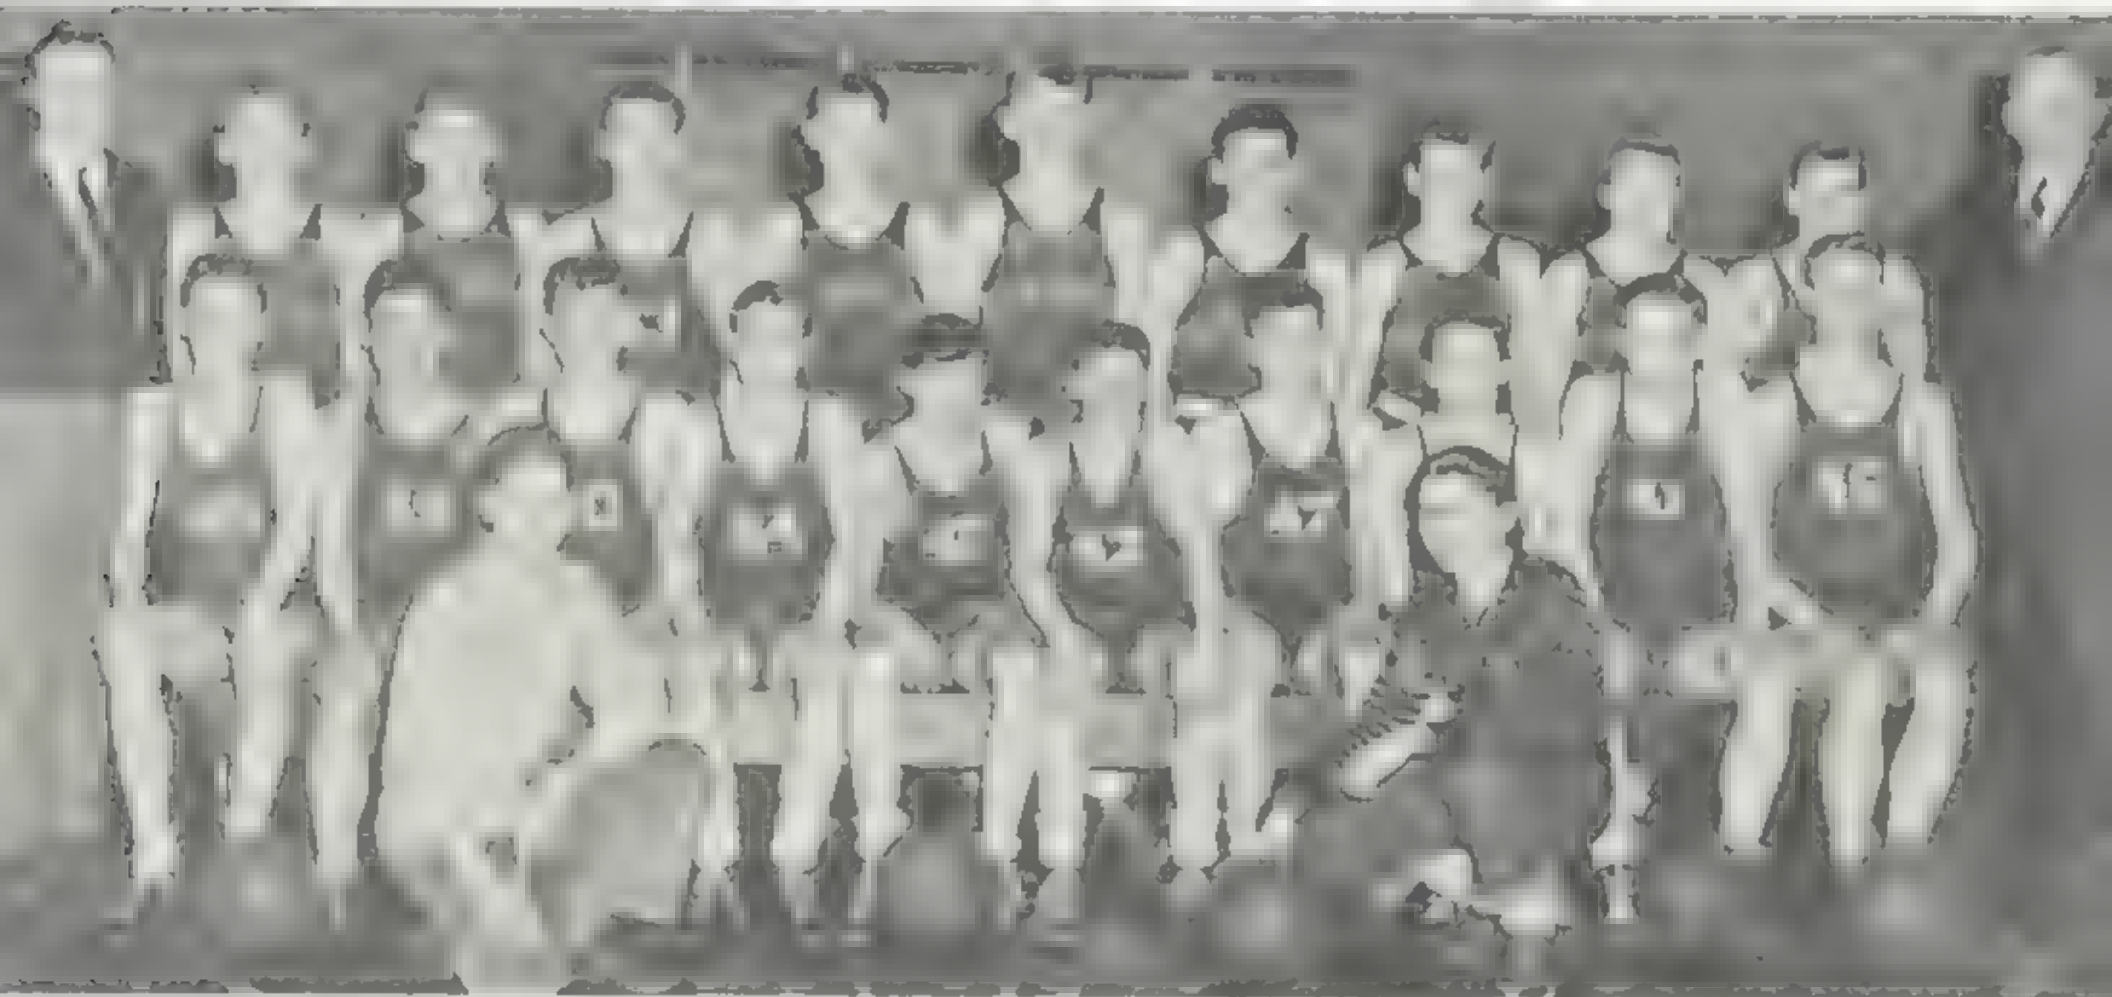

1. Left to right: Charles Dickson (22) grinds the axe by charging into the Rupert Pirates while Con Carver (12) prepares to jump into the tussle.

2. Ralph Tucker (23) heads-in for a beautiful push shot with well trained precision; along with the help of Jack Carey (19) in the background, the roving Indians vainly try to hold the charging Bulldogs from Nampa.

3. "Is it in?" roars the crowd; Charles Dickson (22) and Jack Carey (19) in the heat of the moment look on while a gift toss falls in without a quiver.

THE PAPOUSES OR J-V SQUAD

Back—Head Gene Sato, Byron Jones, Dick Cotant, Alan Nichols, Martin Goddard, Darward Fry, Jim Kissane, Bud Thomas, John Grooms, Herb Glindeman, coach

Managers: Clifford Taylor and Herby Steffens.

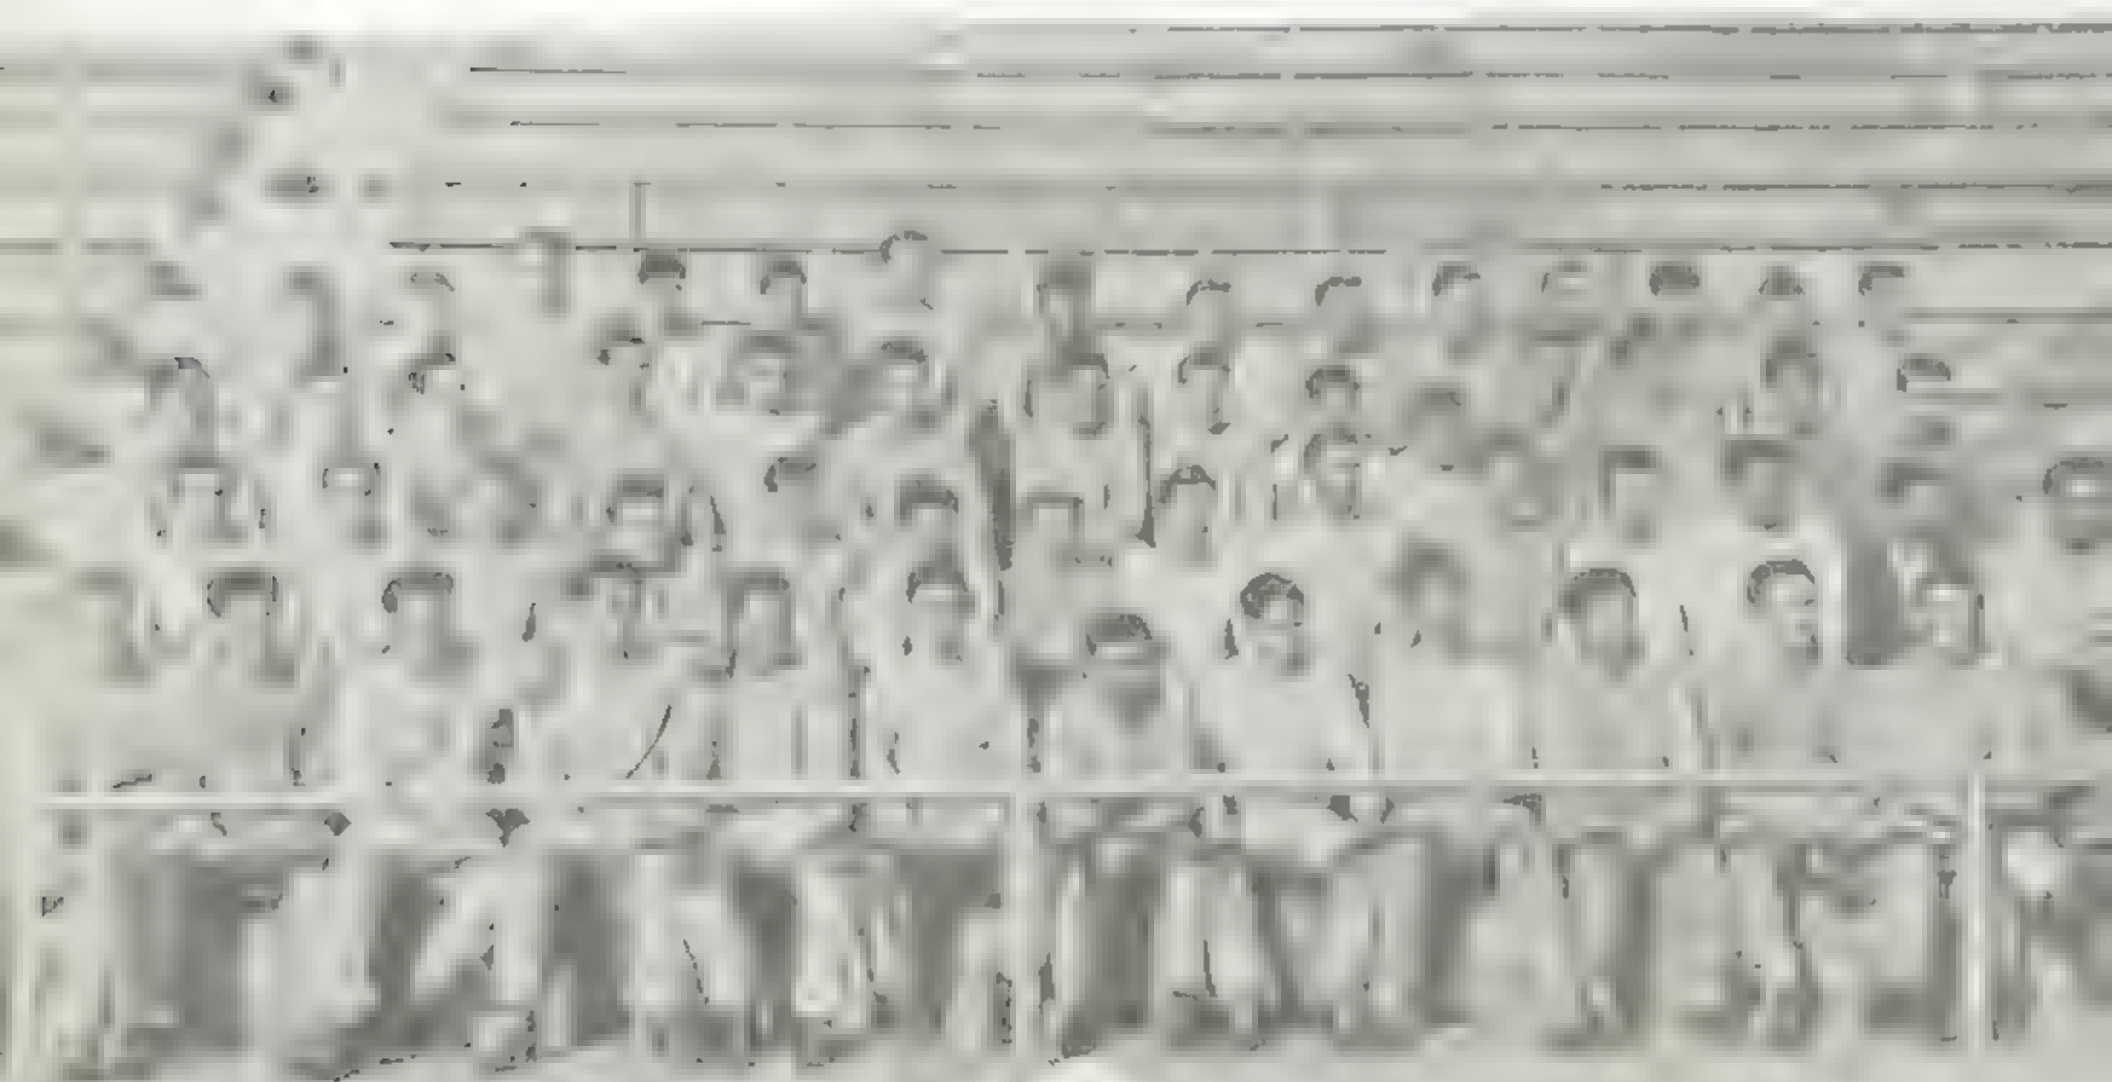

Muscles strained in effort—a dash's concentrated drive—a mile's slow, lung-burning grind—the twisting, all-out snap of the shot—the curving discus—soaring javelin—stamina and sweat—conditioning and charley horses—

With the track in very poor condition, Bob Owens, Pocatello middle-distance runner, finishes first in medley competition: time, 3:37—three seconds under state record—May 17, 1945, at Moscow state invitational meet.

Track, the predominating spring sport, is just getting into swing as we go to press. Already many potential stars are coming into the ascendancy. New and old men are showing real promise so that the coaches go to meets with a confident expression.

In a not too unfamiliar situation, we find Cleve Barratt, Bob Davis, and Larry Young, three promising stars. "Rip" has called the familiar, "Dump the closest man!"

The sixteen-pound shot is but a marble in the hands of LeRoy Frear. LeRoy placed high in every meet, adding to the score of the tireless Redskins.

The boys out for a rugged cross-country run along the road in the hills adjacent to Pocatello. Who said that track was only a sun don't? Notice the strained faces on those in the foreground they aren't smiling.

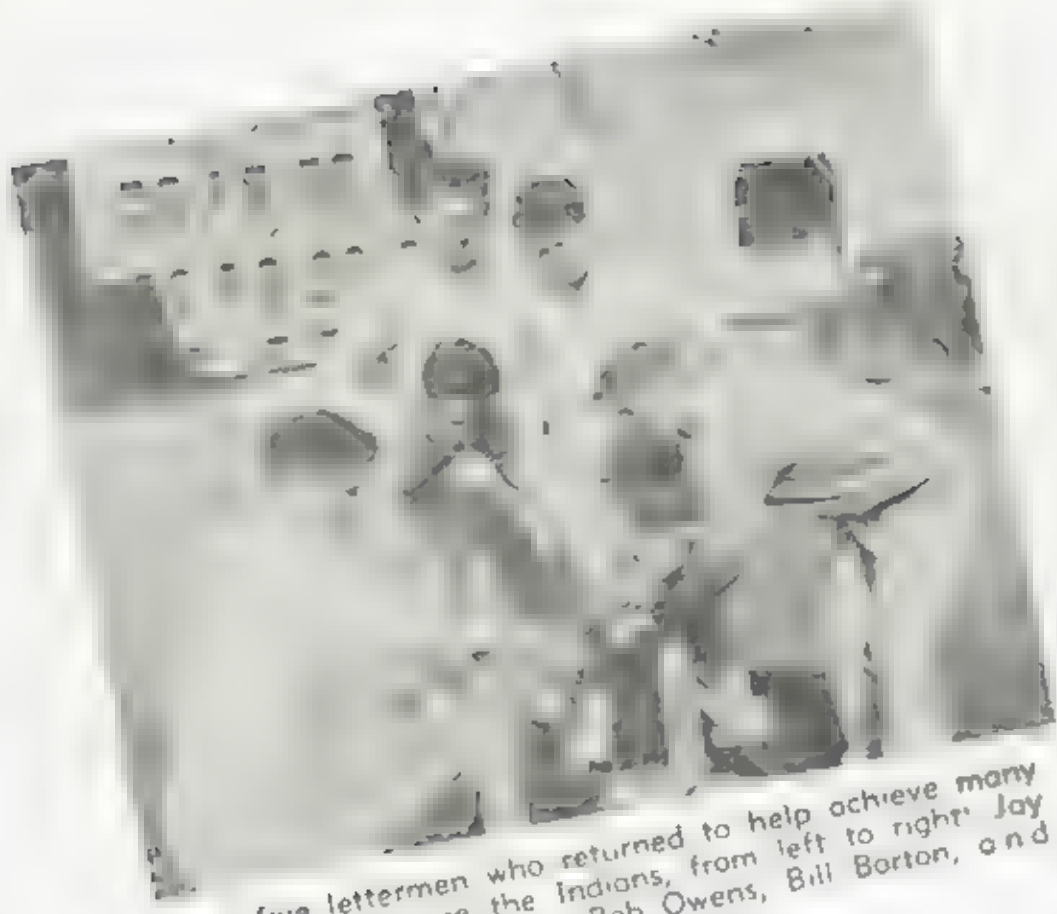

Good night

Dear Mother,
You have really been early.
Your kids are really a sweet bunch. I hope you have had a fine time in the year to come.

Whooping Warriors

They're off! Speeding over the ground like deer Con Carver and Jay Faggart speed on to victory. Con featured in the sprints, placing among the first in dash events, Jay who was one of the few 3 year returning lettermen was especially outstanding in the 440 yard dash and relay tria s

SEASON OF "45"

The season of 1945 was an almost complete success because the team added to their "firsts", the meets of Aberdeen, Rigby, the district meet at McCammon, and the relay carnival at Pocatello. They placed second in the Big Six Meet at Twin Falls and in the state meet at Moscow. In all the team was something out of the ordinary because only six boys went to the state meet at Moscow and placed themselves second over 125 other fighting scanty-clads.

SCHEDULE OF "45"

Aberdeen ..	April 21, 1945
Relay Carnival at Poky..	April 27, 1945
Rigby Invitational	May 3, 1945
Big Six Meet at Twin Falls	May 5, 1945
District Meet at McCammon	May 11, 1945
Moscow State Meet	May 17, 1945

Don't forget the coming season will be like the last one.

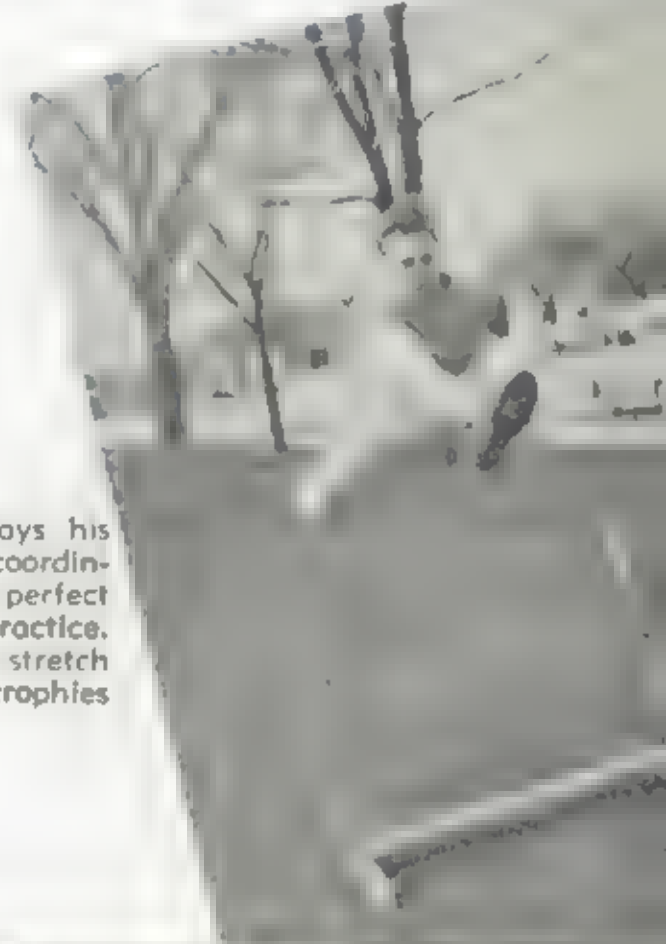

SEASON OF "46"

The season of 1946 looks very promising. Coach "Rip" Gledhill will have his hands full on deciding who should run in each race. With such outstanding stars the team already shows fine promise in the hurdles, middle distance, and dash events; at the same time there is ability in many fields which are full of the charging scanty-clads from the Indian City. The reporter will not predict how far the Redskins will go, but from the outlook it is possible that Poky will be a top team.

SCHEDULE OF "46"

Rigby Invitational	April 18, 1946
Aberdeen	April 23, 1946
Provo, Utah Invitational	April 26, 1946
Big Six at Twin Falls..	May 3, 1946
District at Pocatello	May 10, 1946
Moscow State Meet	May 17-18, 1946

Parr Sainsbury displays his beautiful form and coordination by performing a perfect hurdler's splint in practice. His superb ability to stretch out won Parr many trophies in this event.

Bill Barton is a half stride ahead of Ralph Hansen, who is racing merrily over the low hurdles. Ralph has been very constant in coming first for Poky in both the low and high hurdles; also Bill has not been out-done in broad-jump and low hurdles.

HOME ROOM TOURNAMENT

Senior B emerged victorious in the homeroom basketball tournament. The outstanding players were Duane Dudley, Glenn Ellsworth, Lowell Stratford, Frank Davis, Herman McDevitt, and Bob Watson.

INTERCLASS TOURNAMENT

Nacholantly the Senior A team lounges against the school, thinking possibly of their many victories over all opponents. They are Ralph Swisher, Duane Dudley, Jay Taggart, Bob Owens, Con Carver, Glenn Ellsworth.

WRESTLING

Jim O'Brien, agile boxer in the ring, explains to the muscle men the manly art of defending themselves. Here we see him giving Gene Roche the Indian flip, while Leroy Frear looks on.

PING PONG CHAMPION

Overcoming all opponents, Glenn Ellsworth came forth victorious; his swift and accurate stroke combined with his extremely expert coordination won him many laurels in this field.

BOXING

Edie Trapp, the boy with the glove in his face, shows one on Newton Hunter's chin in a superlative boxing contest. It doesn't look as if Newton dislikes the sport.

"Pow!" yell the Cheer Leaders, Dale Olson, Lois Cullen, Jean Howard, and Robert Kirkenda, during the half of the Preston game.

Yuuuuu Redskins, Fight!!

1.—The band leads the way. 2.—A rousing rally stirs up pep. 3.—At the half of the Boise game, the Pep Band forms a "P". 4.—And then there was light at the pep rally. 5.—This is the way to march? 6.—Our Indians whoop it up the night before the Twin Falls game.

Every basketball game must start out with a jump, so the girls do it too. The girls lining up for a foul shot are Virginia Graves, Helen Christensen, Chyril Jones, Shirley Monroe, Grace Garvin, Marcene Camp, and Mary Ellen Owens.

Officers of the athletic group are Colleen Burningham, Miss Van Gaasbeek, Lois Wilson, Margaret Sherburne, and Mary Barry. Beauty in the balance! It is not so easy to achieve—this delicate balance that looks so deceptively easy. The modern dance members striking the graceful pose are Marva Hancock, Dorothy Pieper, Lee Ann Hawkes, Wyla Nelson, Tempa Lou Walker, Helen Puckett, and Margaret Morrell. Hold that line! The tumbling team demonstrates its grace and precision, it takes good balance to make the act succeed.

The creator of our little Indian is artistic Bill Nichols, who pauses on the curb after completing a magnificent job as art editor.

Fred Dykes, as business manager, guided the business staff and expertly kept the finances balanced to make this year's annual a successful business project.

Posing on the lawn, is assistant business manager, LaVerne Poole, who started the year as an efficient bookkeeper and ended helping Fred with money matters.

REDSKINS' YEARBOOK

Working silently all year, the members of the Pocatellian staff have spent long hours during study hall, noons, after school, and even on Saturdays to complete the 1945-46 Pocatellian. The editorial staff, expertly advised by Miss Thompson, have been kept busy cutting, pasting, and arranging the pictures not to mention racking the brain and dictionary for write ups while the photographers studied the latest picture taking methods.

Mrs. Berrett has worked hard advising the business staff, including the home room salesmen who have sold a top number of annuals. Altogether the Pocatellian tribesmen have efficiently produced for you the record of school life. Here it is, Indians! We hope you like it!

Roy Hedlund, as freshman-sophomore editor, was kept busy during the first part of the year photographing and arranging the home rooms for the underclass section. Busy finishing the senior panels are Marv Pat Lyons, assistant senior editor, checking last year's layouts Hazel Johnson, typist, making the final copy; as senior editor Barbara Gasser gives her okay. Working hard on the junior panels are Dorees Traugher and Mary Ellen Owens, co-junior editors, drawing a layout; as Dale Olson, assistant photographer and Wally Farnes, assistant junior editor, look on

Against the brick walls we find the Walter Wincheys and Heda Hoppers of tomorrow. They have given us a wide-awake, spirited coverage of school news.

The final authorities, Mr. E. H. Berrett, adviser; and Frances Richmond, editor, feeling snug after sending the March issue to press.

News Of The Teepee

Attractive and efficient Frances Richmond, editor-in-chief of the Red and Blue led her staff through an exciting nine months of work and fun.

When that important missive of information, the Red and Blue, was distributed in special sessions of afternoon homeroom, 'oh's' and 'ah's,' sighs and giggles, and some gasps are to be heard. Concentration was intense at such moments. Secretly, students look at the gossip column to see whether their names might be there, and to see who dates whom.

Max Chandler and Harold Hymas smilingly stop their respective duties as advertising manager and business manager to pose for the camera.

The paper has been published more frequently this year one issue reaching the students every three weeks instead of every four. This meant more work, and we do mean work for Frances, her associate editors, business managers, the columnists, reporters, typists, ad collectors, page editors, and all others with a job to do. It's a good thing our little Indian learned to read!

Credit for the high acclaims attributed to the musicians of Poky High should rightfully go to the Big Chief of the Music Department, Mr. H. L. Fawson.

Downbeat!

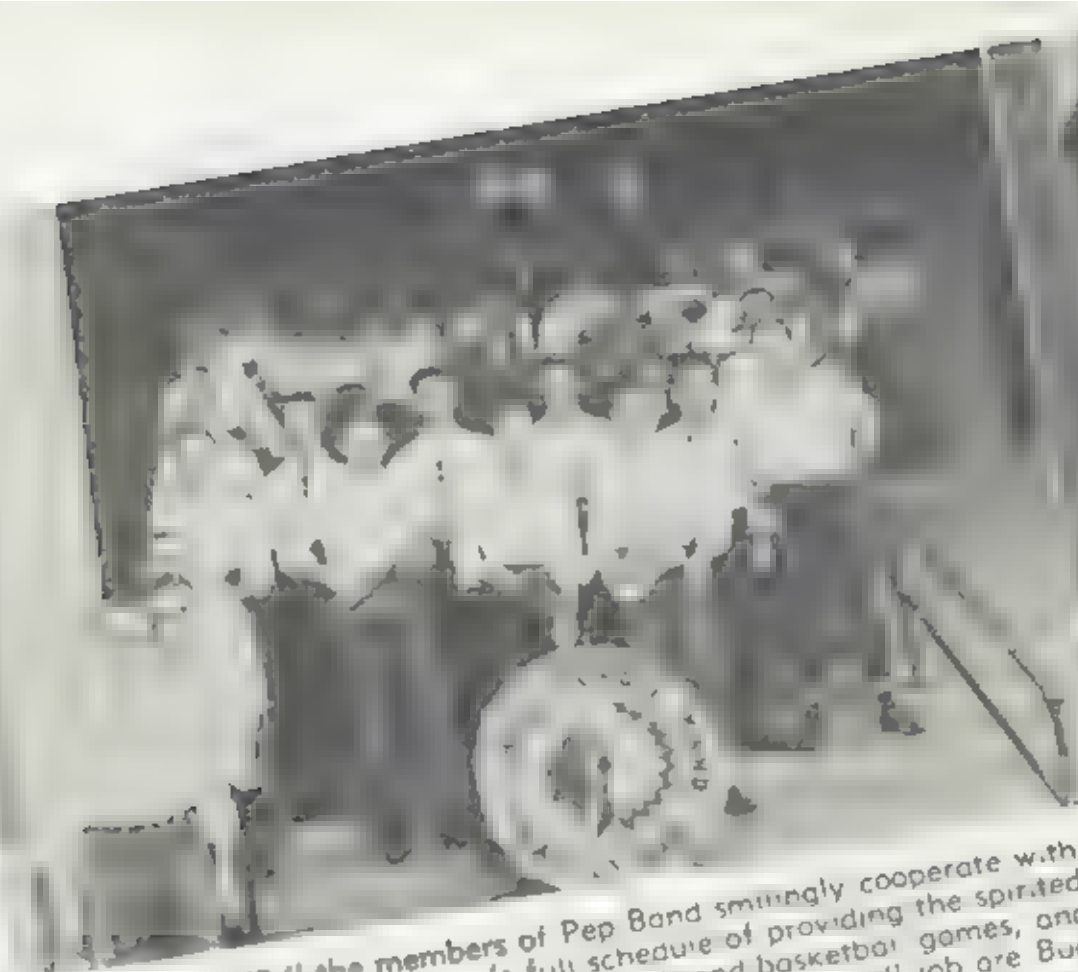

Male soloist just about to enter the auditorium is Donald Bates, bass member of Choir, who played leading roles in the Christmas pageant and the operetta.

The baton swings down . . . surging voices and mellow tones fill the air . . . "Lover, Come Back To Me" . . . "Hallelujah" . . . "O, Now We Thank Our God" . . . rounding out a full year of musical activity.

The Music Department, consisting of orchestra, band, choir, boys' and girls' choruses under the direction of Mr. H. L. Fawson and a new comer to the music faculty, Mr. T. F. Quine, have presented numbers for Music Week, Holy Week, participated in the Music Clinic, and gave the Thanksgiving and Christmas assemblies, climaxing 1946 with the presentation of the operetta, 'New Moon'. Hats off to Poky High's music makers.

Two very outstanding Poky High soloists are soprano Marion Amundsen and contralto Jean Howard, who have not only delighted the students with musical numbers in assemblies and operettas, but also many groups and clubs in Pocahontas, being equally lovely to look at and to listen to.

A pretty eyeful for our warriors and girls are the six lovely maidens of Girls' Sextet: left to right: Marcene Camp, Wanda Christensen, Denna Lee Wood and Lenora Egan, Pat Kinder, and Shirley Monroe, accompanied by Mary Martineau. Their harmonious singing has made them a distinguished group.

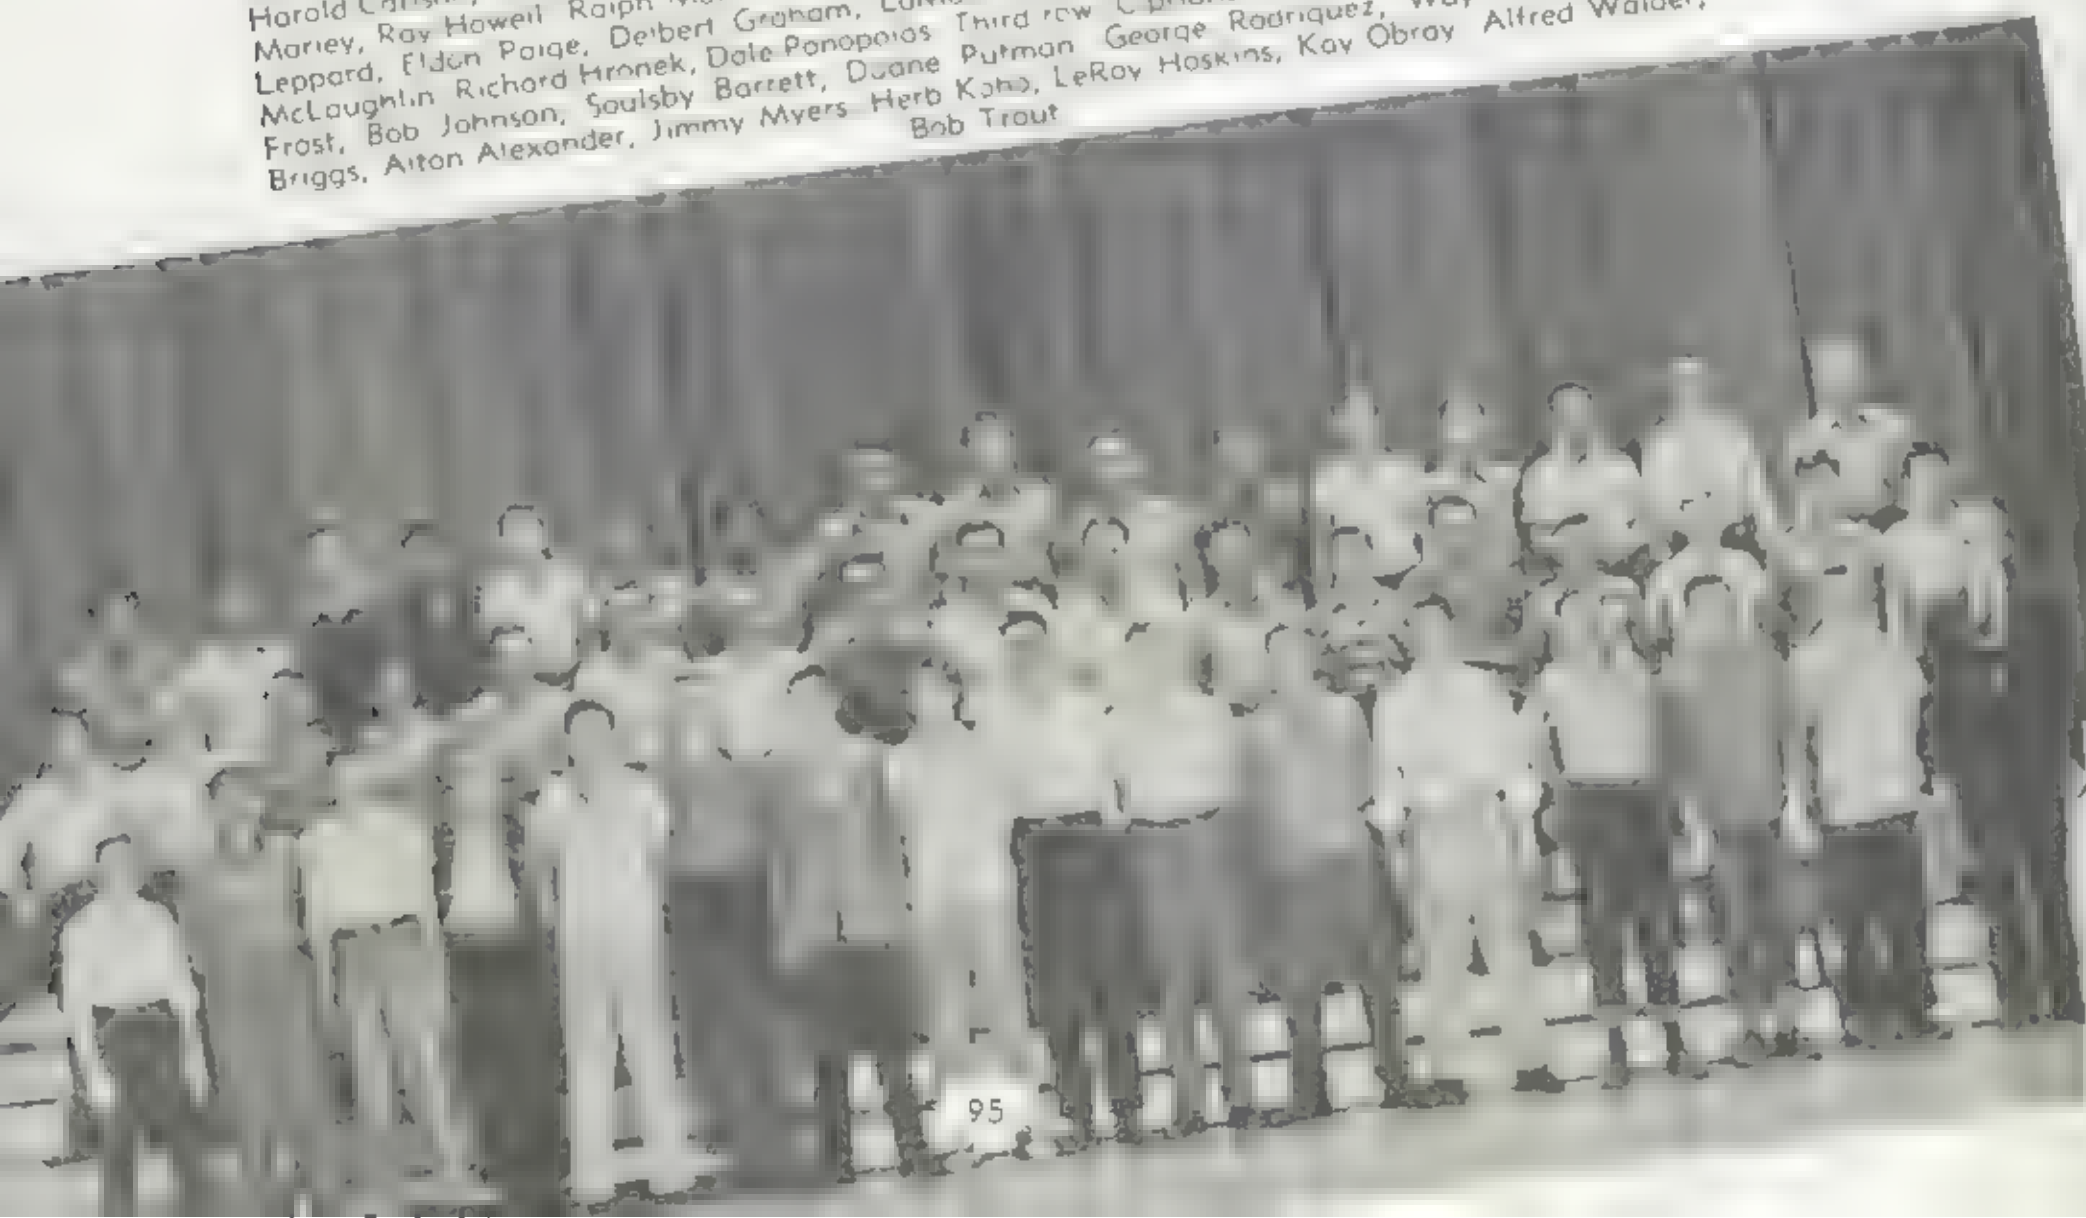

Forming a "p," the members of Pep Band smilingly cooperate with the Pocahontian after a year's full schedule of providing the spirited background of music for all the football and basketball games, and pep assemblies. Deserving top honors for doing a swell job are Bud Olsen, George Lombard, Max Chandler, Paul Ewer, Von Arkinson, Dick Wilkinson, Alan Nichols, John Groom, Jim Varley, Delmar Vil, Paul Winters, Bob Swanson, Wayne McClure, Paul Robinson, Leonard Lombardi, Ralph Kaantz, Lester Johnson, Leonard Williams, Dean Montgomery, Harold Hymas, Don Lusk, Dick Ford, Dean Nielson, Tom Hutchings; led by Roy Hedlund, first semester, and Bud Olsen, second semester.

Blond junior Paul Ewer, member of the Band, Pep Band and the Trumpet Trio, takes the spotlight this year as trumpet soloist.

Male Music Makers

Music For Millions

The three top trumpeters of our tribe, Byron Jones, Leonard Lombardi, and Paul Ewer, better known as the Trumpet Trio, are ready to play "Stardust"; while talented Julianne Hill, concertmistress of the orchestra, weaves the melody of "Ave Maria" from her violin strings

And The Angels Sing

Playing leading roles in the operetta for three years, returned warrior, Bill Dalton, climaxes his brilliant high school musical career as Robert in "New Moon," in which he aptly displayed one of the most prominent baritone voices heard in Poky High. (Below)—The Boys' Quartet, accompanied by Thora Larsen, relaxes after singing "Friendship." They are Bill Garrison, second tenor; Lauray Fereday, bass; Brian Mottishaw, first tenor; and Jay Taggart, baritone.

On deck of the ship, "New Moon," the crew sings "Funny Little Sailor Boy" in the opening scene of the second act. In the upper right hand corner is Carlyle Reynolds who shared the lead of Robert.

NEW MOON

The romantic, colorful "New Moon" by Sigmund Romberg, was presented March 28th and 29th in the high school auditorium; and at the request of the public, it was repeated April 1st. Under the direction of H. L. Fawson, head of the Music Department, it proved to be a dynamic success. Marion Amundsen, Bill Dalton, Marcene Camp, and Carlyle Reynolds played the leading roles. Against a backdrop of beautiful scenery, drawn by Bill Nichols, brilliant songs and dances made this year's operetta another smash hit production, much to the credit of Mr. Fawson and the musicians of Poky High.

Mrs. Gunnell and Mrs. Scott were in charge of dramatics; and Dennis Price, the lighting. Don Pugmire was stage manager; Mazie Isaac and Jacquie Roche planned the costumes; Mrs. Whitlow and the Thespians, the make-up; and Miss Van Gaasbeek, the dances. Other teachers who assisted were Miss Truwick, Mrs. Heard, and Mrs. Herman.

The entire cast joins with Marianne and Robert to sing "Lover Come Back To Me" in the finale of the first act. Left: Marcene Camp, sharing the lead of Marianne, Shirley Monroe as Julie, and Mary Martineau as Clotilde, highlight the first performance.

SYNOPSIS

The story of "New Moon" is of a noble lady, Marianne Beaunoir, who falls in love with her bondservant, Robert Misson. As the story develops, it is revealed that Robert is in reality a French nobleman, but, in aiding a friend, Phillipe, has fled from France and sold himself to Monsieur Beaunoir. The French detective, Ribaud, is sent on the track of Robert and Alexander, Robert's constant companion. Upon finding Robert, he captures him and orders Captain Duval, captain of the "New Moon" to sail for France with the two prisoners. Marianne, to be near her lover, betrothes herself to Duval and sails with them. On the high seas they are attacked by Phillipe, bringing with him a load of bride-ship women, led by Clotilde. Seizing the captaincy of the ship, Robert sets sail for the Isle of Pines to found a democratic colony. With the reunion and marriage of Julie and Alexander, and Robert and Marianne, this colorful operetta is brought to a dramatic climax and a happy ending.

Shirley Ball and Gary Paxman, doing an artistic and rhythmic Mexican dance to "Rosita" take the spotlight in the third scene of the first act, as watched by Marianne from the garden and Martha Yowell, Leona Lewis, Velma Wolverton, Wilma Angelos, Delmar Keller, Virginia Kelly, Renie Cooper, and Joyal Norris

"Give me some men who are stouthearted men!" gallantly sing pirate leaders, Robert and Phillipe, after taking over the mutinized ship, the "New Moon" to Barry Todd, Bob Elbrader, Bob Chivers, Blaine Marley, Bob Swanson, Matthew Dudenake, Wally Farnes, Newton Gunther, Bill Hartland, Bob Lieurance, Gerald Garrett, Glen Ellsworth, Bob Taylor, Sheriff Huff, Eugene Mullen, and Gale Christensen

Taking an extra curtain call, which was well deserved, are the leading characters: Allen Blomquist as Alexander, Jean Howard as Julie, Robert Kirkendall as Ribaud, Max Chandler as Fouchette, Larry Young as Monsieur Beaunoir, Donald Bates as Captain Duval, Marion Amundsen as Marianne, Bill Dalton as Robert, Brian Mottishaw as Phillipe, Sally Norris as Clotilde, Lauray Fereday as Besace, Jay Taggart as Jacques, and Robert Parrott as Brunet with their delightful singing and professional acting, made "New Moon" one of the most successful operetta hits Poky High has ever presented

Planning their rebuttal in Room 127 are the sophomore champs, John Roberts and Jim Kissane

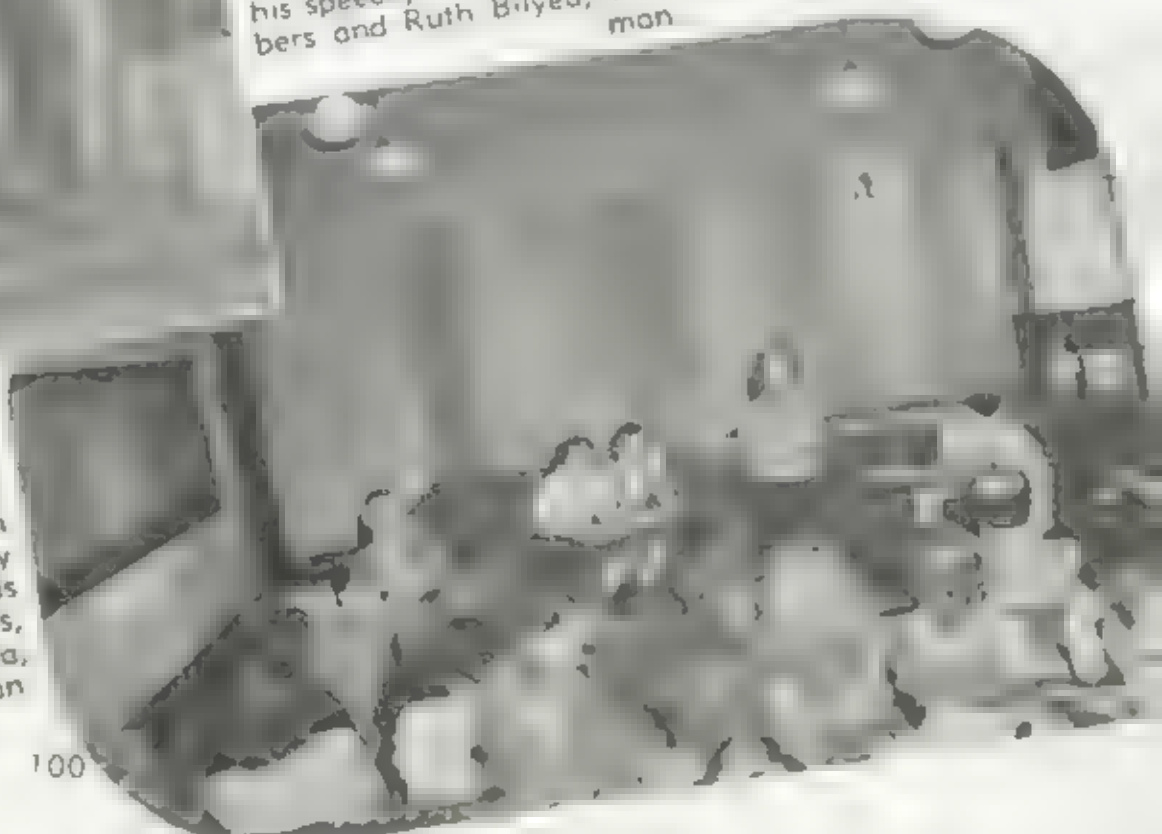

During this school year, debate was very active, with four class tournaments and many meets with other schools in southern Idaho. The different classes debated on such questions as the Russian Problem, and universal military training. As we go to press, the freshmen are in the middle of their debate season and no champions have been determined as yet. On March 5th sophomore teams debated at Lava and won both decisions; and March 12 Lava teams debated at Pocatello. A non decision tourney was held here March 19 in which four schools participated. Pocatello debated with Malad on March 22, and on March 26 Pocatello won at an invitational meet in Malad. On March 29 Idaho Falls debated with Poky here, and at the fifth district debate, which was held April 16 at the Student Union Building, Pocatello won second place. In the South State debate held at Boise April 18 Pocatello placed third. So you can see how our little Indian really is active in debate, under the able sponsorship of Miss Daisy Evans.

Warriors Win Debates

Debating in the public speaking room is Barbara Weston as her partner, Wally Farnes, prepares for his speech, while the opposite team, Sharon Chambers and Ruth Bilyeu, listen. Jim Varley is chairman.

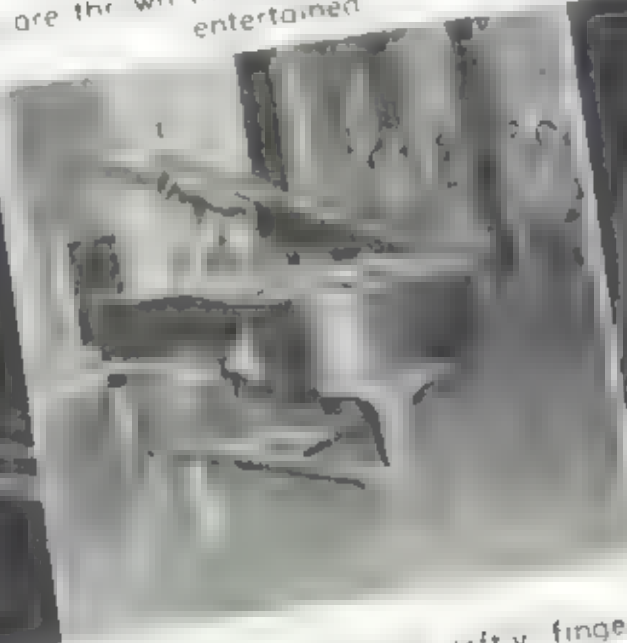

Angel Thora Larsen forms the center for one of the beautiful tableau scenes in the Christmas pageant, "Why the Chimes Rang," presented December 20 by the music department

Students Applaud Assemblies

Every Friday at eleven books are thrown into lockers as students rush to the auditorium to be entertained

Outstanding member of last year's senior class, Esther Kissane artistically plays on our opening assembly, planned by the assembly committee

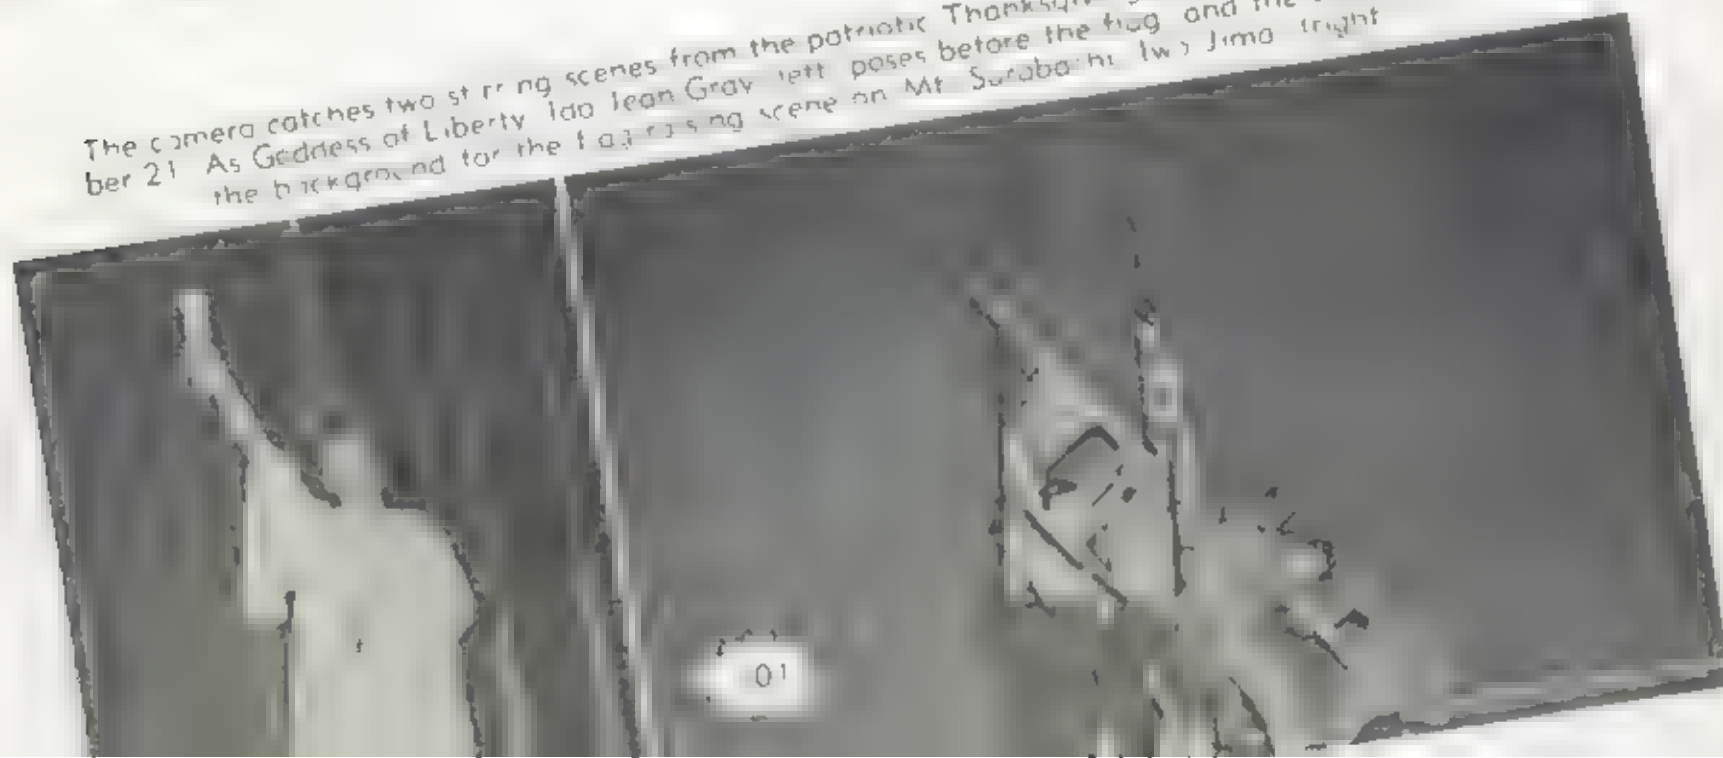

Popular Joe LaRue deftly fingers the ivories in his boogie woogie rendition of "The Blue Danube" at the Hard Times assembly

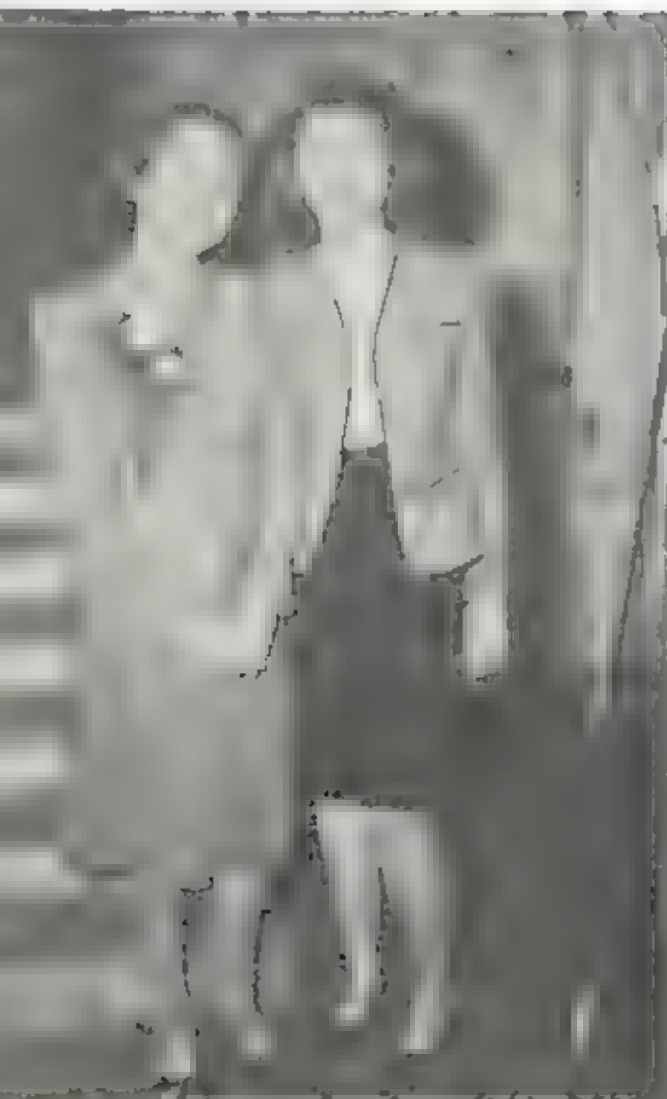

On the first assembly petite Marjorie Levinson does a song and dance routine to "The Strawberry Raan," accompanied by the horse

The camera catches two stirring scenes from the patriotic Thanksgiving assembly given November 21. As Goddess of Liberty, Ida Jean Gray, left, poses before the flag, and the choir provides the background for the flag raising scene on Mt. Surabachi. (Two Jimmie Wright)

Icebound

SYNOPSIS

Those who believe that the hope for happy living lies in the fact that every one has good in him, although too often deeply concealed, will find in this play by Owen Davis a real support for that belief. Here is the story of a man who found his way of loneliness and confusion through hard work and a woman's love

The Jordans are a New England family, "icebound" by ignorance and a worship of money. As a matter of fact, when the play opens, they are waiting for their old mother to die while counting "shares" for each

A group of seniors, under the direction of Miss Meredyth Bowler, presented their interpretation of the Jordans. With the aid and interest of those who assisted with the stage work, costumes, and make-up, the play was received by the audience with much enthusiasm. The action takes place in the living room of the home over a period of six months

Don Bates, Nadine Olsen, and Rolph Swisher bring the first act to its climax

Members of the stage crew, Bruce Coke, Jim Kissane, and Nate Adamson, are caught in a jovial mood while working on the set

The old flats are repaired by Duane Dudley, Delmar Vail, and Dick Brown

Nadine rushes to the rescue of Kirk as he breaks up the fight between Allen and Swish

The grand finale ends in a clinch by Swish and Lee

Councils

Dear Harriet
 Council

The members of the Boys' Council are listed below. They are the boys who have done above average work scholastically, as well as gathering points for partaking in activities. As the tradition of the school is to have a dance the night of Red and Blue Day, Boys' Council, as in the past, sponsored the Mixer. The theme was carried out in red and blue with the gym attractively decorated. Also much wampum was made selling pop, because, unfortunately, that evening the drinking fountains were turned off. With black-face make-up the warriors came through with an up-to-date minstrel show, featuring song, dance, music, and the humorous (?) jokes of the end-men.

Boys' Council

Throughout the last seven moons, outstanding, as always, was the Boys' Council in rendering service to the school. This tribe is made up of boys who have done above average work scholastically, as well as gathering points for partaking in activities. As the tradition of the school is to have a dance the night of Red and Blue Day, Boys' Council, as in the past, sponsored the Mixer. The theme was carried out in red and blue with the gym attractively decorated. Also much wampum was made selling pop, because, unfortunately, that evening the drinking fountains were turned off. With black-face make-up the warriors came through with an up-to-date minstrel show, featuring song, dance, music, and the humorous (?) jokes of the end-men.

February 21st was the date for the annual Boys' Council Dinner-Dance, to which every member invited a partner, all enjoying a delicious meal of ham with all the trimmings. After each had consumed his maize, the maidens and warriors went to the foyer, which had been specially lighted, to dance to dreamy music.

"Service to the school," being their standard, all Boys' Council braves find time to usher at school functions, patrol the field at football games . . . serve Council duty in the dean's office and door duty at noon . . . and to make the most of their careers at high school.

Checking up on absentees are LeRoy Frear, Robert Owens, and Jim Kissane, all on duty in the dean's office.

It's been wonderful knowing you. Best of luck
Girls' Council mean Camp

"I shall pass this way but once," drifts to our ears as we approach the tepee where Girls' Council is holding its regular pow-wow. A glance inside the buckskin flaps reveals over a hundred snappy-looking co-eds recording their high averages as Big Chief Marcene Camp conducts important business. We recognize the cheery faces as those belonging to girls whom we encounter every day in school performing their daily council duties under the able sponsorship of Miss Nadine Tucker . . . dashing madly around the halls distributing morning bulletins . . . tiptoeing into classes collecting attendance slips . . . responding to anxious voices over the office phones . . . looking shyly for the current heart throb's schedule card as she thumbs for the whereabouts of some tardy freshman . . . busily checking attendance in the government room.

It is reported that the Council Co-ed, given November 21st topped the list of Council social affairs, the first School Co-ed to be presented by the organization. Many a starry eyed lass summoned up the courage to ask the wolf of her dreams. Plans are being made as we go to press for the annual Council Luncheon to be held in the spring, honoring the seniors. As we leave the wigwam, we know that Girls' Council means service to others, with a lot of fun to boot.

"P" CLUB

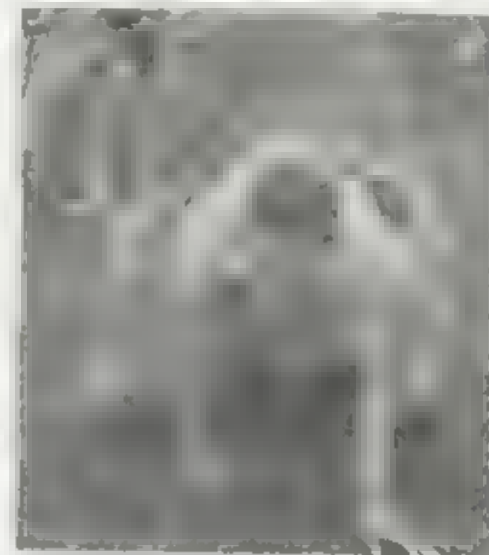

From the past history of Poky Hi, 'P' Club has come down as one of the most outstanding organizations, membership being open only to braves who have earned their athletic letter. Members of this group are appointed to be the traffic squad for keeping order in the halls as classes pass, much to the dismay of the freshmen. Every student knows the familiar cry of "peanuts," "dogfood" (alias candy bars) and "coke" shouted at the basketball games by the gruff voices of the cavemen of the school. The boys have been ably guided in their activities by Mr. Glindeman, adviser, and Miss Evans, concessions director.

A new policy at the weekly pow wow is the club treasurer's purchase of hamburgers, apples, ice cream, and other goodies for the attending members. This year the tribe, with wampum which they earned the hard way, will give the school a "juke box" for school informals or to be used at a snack bar when constructed.

The last formal dance of the year, the 'P' Club Ball, is being planned for, as we go to press. Then Poky Hi squaws and braves will trip the light fantastic at the Memorial Hall. Leaving the 'P' Club wigwam, we are impressed by the wonderful athletic ability, good sportsmanship, and school service of its members besides being the "dream dust" or the romantic heroes of most Poky coeds.

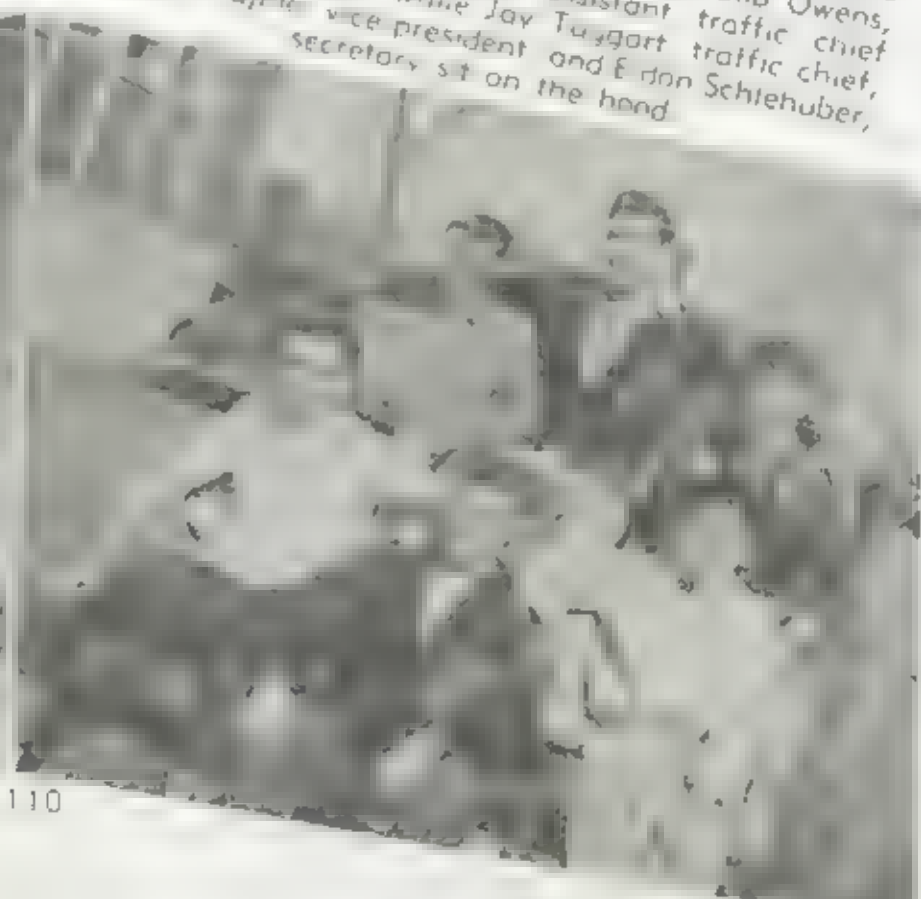

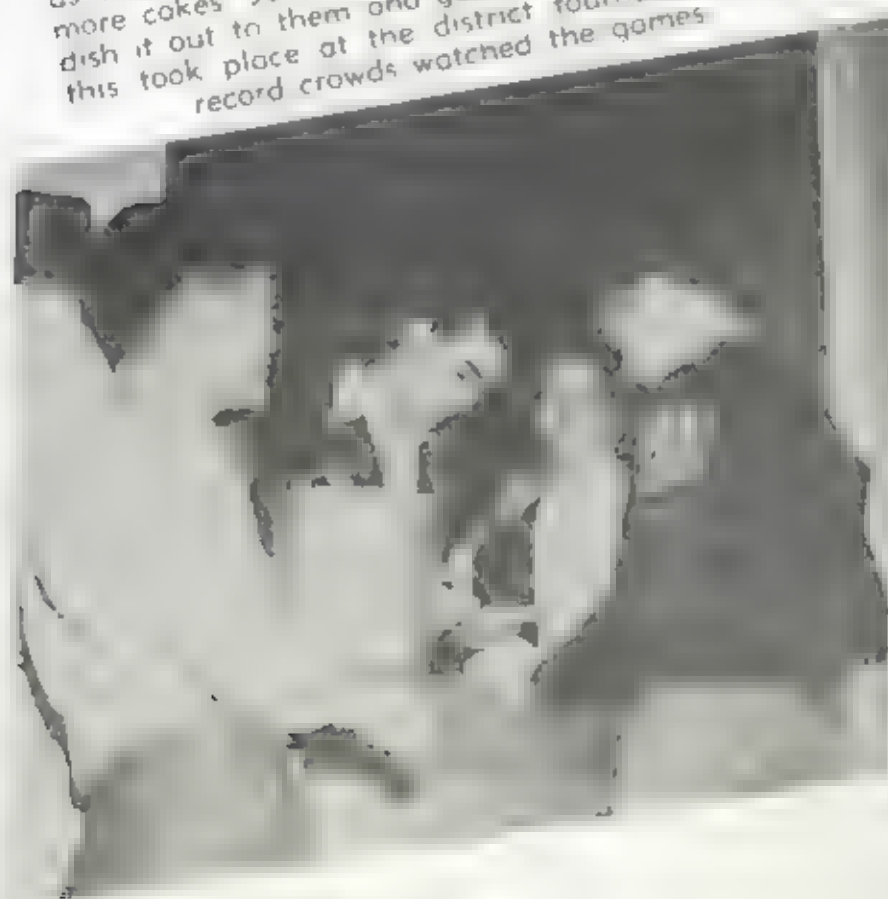

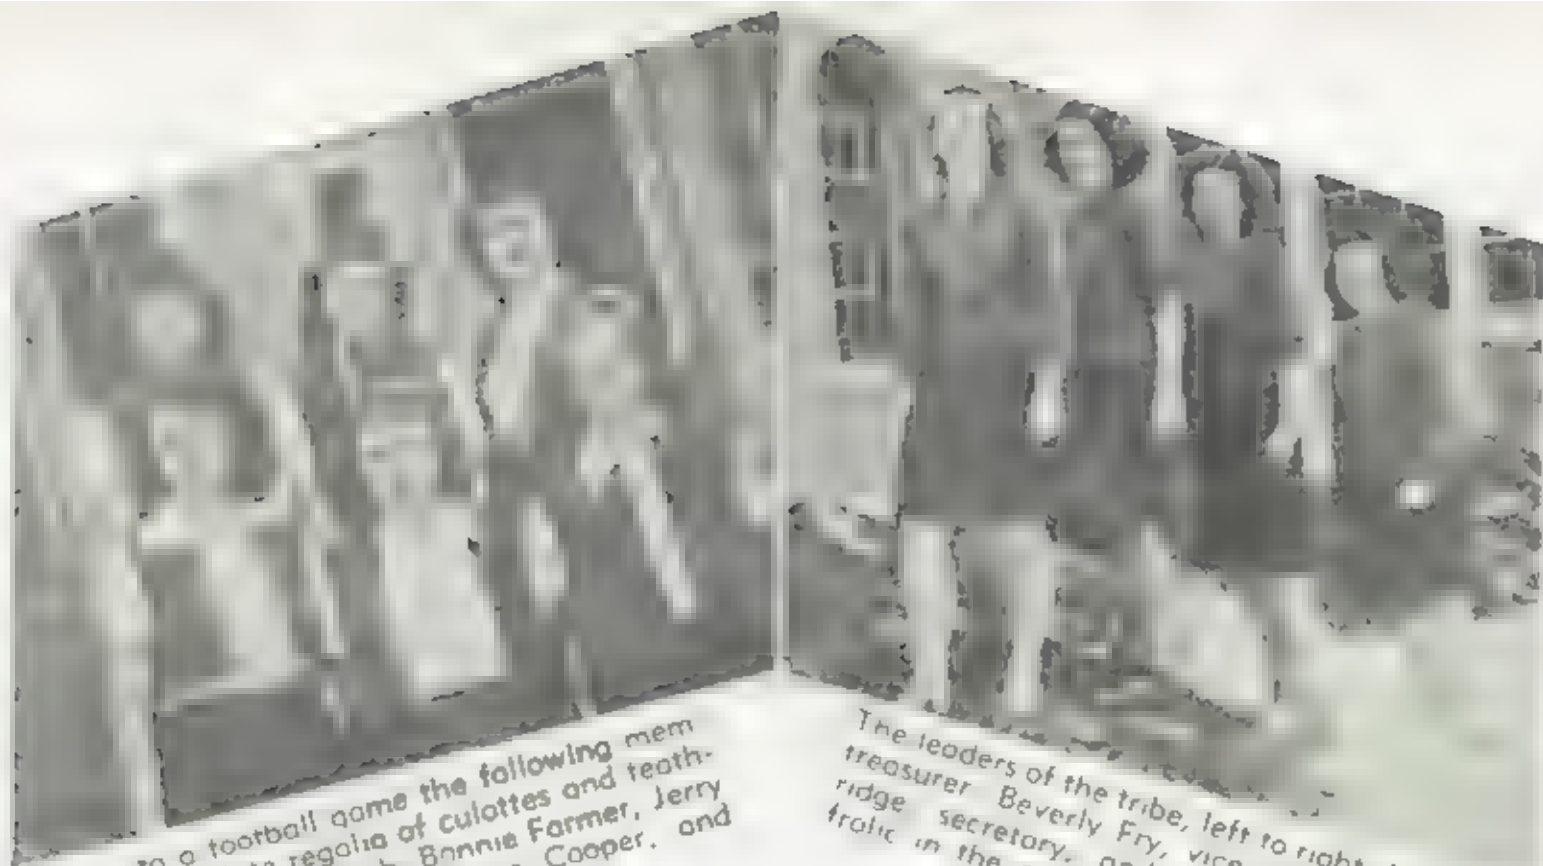

Gene Dalton, much-beaten-up initiate, crawls under Ralph Tucker, the end man on the padding line, and receives an extra blow.

"It's a thirsty crowd," say Tom Conlin and Joe Sato as they come back to the concessions stand for more cokes. John Dudley and Matthew Dudenake dish it out to them and gather in the shekels. All this took place at the district tournament where record crowds watched the games.

All ready for a ride in the country on a beautiful spring day, the 'P' Club officers are full of joy and laughter. Ralph Tucker, treasurer, Bob Owens, president, and Joe Sato, assistant traffic chief, adorn the tender while Jay Taggart, traffic chief, Eddie Trunko, vice president, and Eldon Schlehuber, secretary sit on the hood.

Pep Club

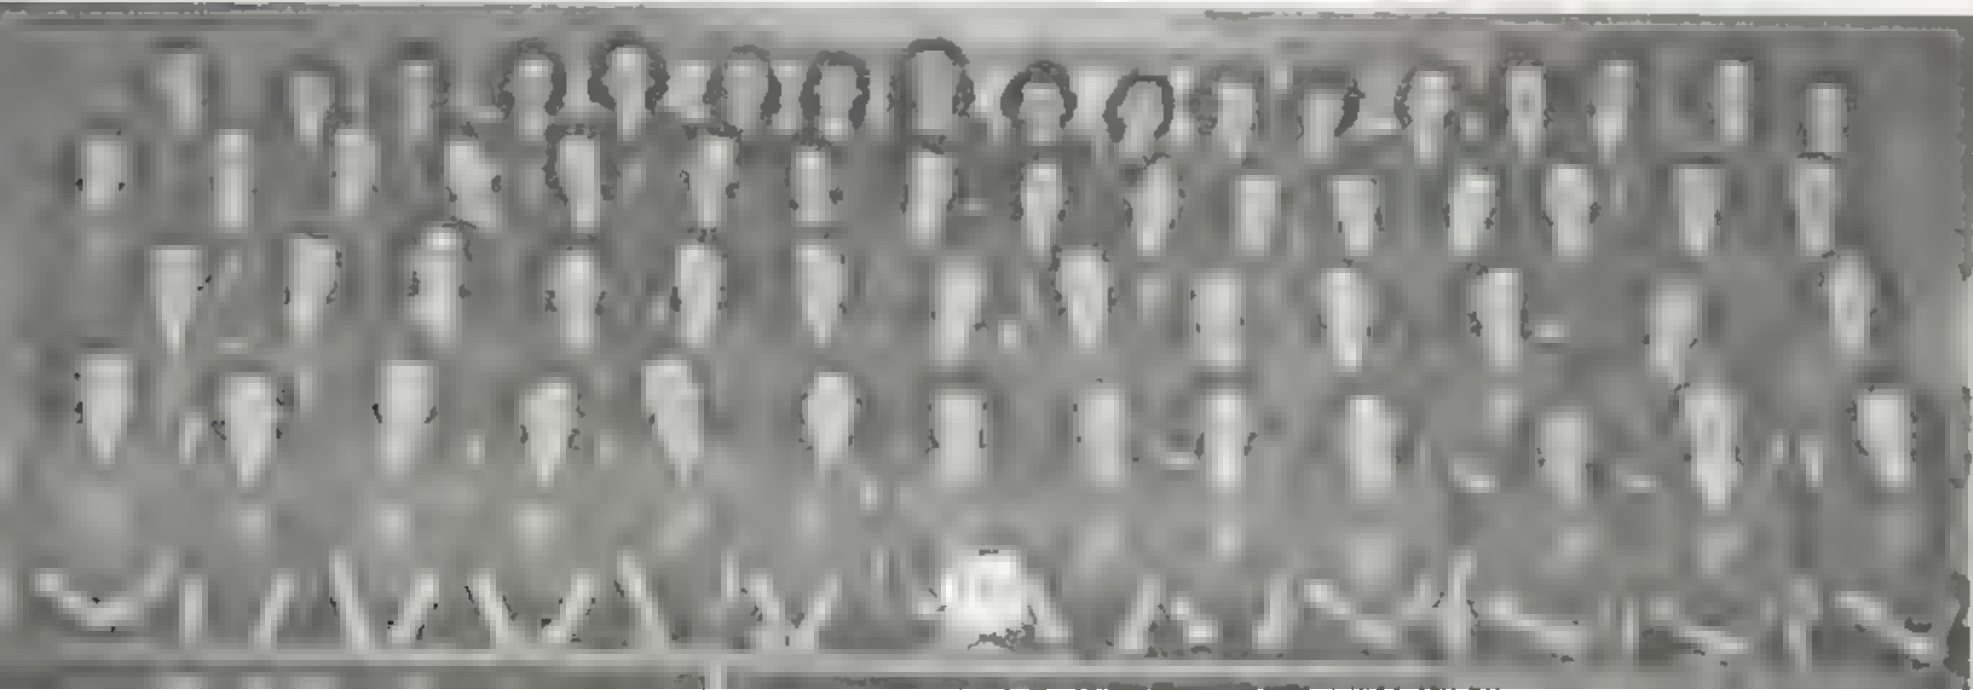

"You u u u Redskins!" is led dynamically by the cheerleaders, honorary members of Pep Club, at the Nampa game: Dale Olson, Lois Cullen, Robert Kirkendall, and Jean Howard.

"Hubba, hubba!" (no explanation needed), is more than frequently heard when spectators see the peppy enthusiasm and spic-and-span neatness of Girls' Pep Club cheering the Indians on to victory. The ideals of Pep Club (besides trapping men) are to create an atmosphere of enthusiastic school spirit as our little Indians score touchdowns and baskets; and to advertise, by sporting their uniforms in the halls of Poky Hi, the athletic events of the day. This energetic group of squaws presented for their annual assembly a take-off (?) on the famous book, "Gone With the Wind," complete with costumes and scenery, Scarlet and Rhett.

Making their debut on Red and Blue Day, the girls marched at the head of the student body in the parade; and the beat of their feet responded to the tom-tom during the half of the Idaho Falls football game, when they did an Indian war dance, killing the tiger (which, incidentally, was Joan Ziebarth and Bettylu Koenig). Whether decked out in culottes and feathers, or in their new red sweaters and blue skirts, Pep Club upholds the standards of hospitality to visiting teams (in more ways than one) arouses the enthusiasm of the crowds at the games (in more ways than one) and takes up the best seats in the gym (in more ways than one).

Posing in their new sweaters, complete with letters and names, just before the Idaho Falls basketball game, the Pep Club girls make a pleasing eye-fu (Huh boys!) They are: Front row, left to right Miss D. Kingsley, E. Woolley, S. Meredith, B. Ferro, B. Carter, S. Cox, S. Burre, B. Crowell, D. Enlayson, L. Dickerson, J. Ziebarth, B. Koenig, D. Simmons. Second row, left to right M. Welard, P. Lyons, B. Woolley, J. Lockridge, B. Fry, J. Schwabe, M. Camp, M. Barry, B. Weston, B. J. Murphy, M. Dean, F. Richman, S. B. Third row, left to right P. West, L. Crshaw, M. Foreman, B. Johnson, H. Crawford, J. H. J. Henderson, J. Cleare, J. Schleger, J. Hart, C. Mann, N. Harrison, V. Kery, V. Graves, D. J. Murray, J. Merman. Fourth row, left to right B. Gasser, L. Dawson, M. Crshaw, G. Richman, S. Frost, G. Couch, J. Cox, E. Poole, C. Winter, M. Kinara, C. McQuillan, T. Kinara, N. Cook, J. McQuillon, L. Hill, D. Woodland, R. Winter.

"Lights! Curtain! Action! Spotlight on Poky Hi's honorary dramatic society!"

The Thespians really took the 'meat' this year when they initiated eight new members to add to the nine big chiefs already in their tribe. After donning their feathered headdresses and their best ceremonial gowns, the tribal members initiated the new Little papuoses in an impressive candle light ceremony after which they all pow wowed and made merry amidst a confusion of cake and ice cream.

In March the Thespian Indians called an annual round-up, and after smearing each other with war paint, they presented a one-act play to the student body. Under the leadership of Mrs. Wayne Whitlow, an honorary member of Thespians, the tribal members went all out and really had a perfect year, taking turns directing one-act plays . . . acting behind the footlights . . . working on stage craft . . . making up characters in the plays and for the operetta. If, ten years from now, you should see the names of these dramatists blazing from a Broadway theater marquee, look back and remember you knew them in the old days at Poky Hi!

Thespians

Relaxing for a moment on the curbing—Trilby Anderson, treasurer, and Jacquie Overturf, are caught by the camera.

All set for a bicycle ride are Pauline Nilsson, secretary; Gene Stanley, president; and Harold Frear, vice-president.

As Marcene Camp sings, our roving (?) photographer films a view of a rehearsal for the Thespian assembly. We see, respectively, Shirley, Kirk, Gene, Mary Pat, Jacquie, Elda Mae, Barbara, Bettylu, Joyce, and Marcene.

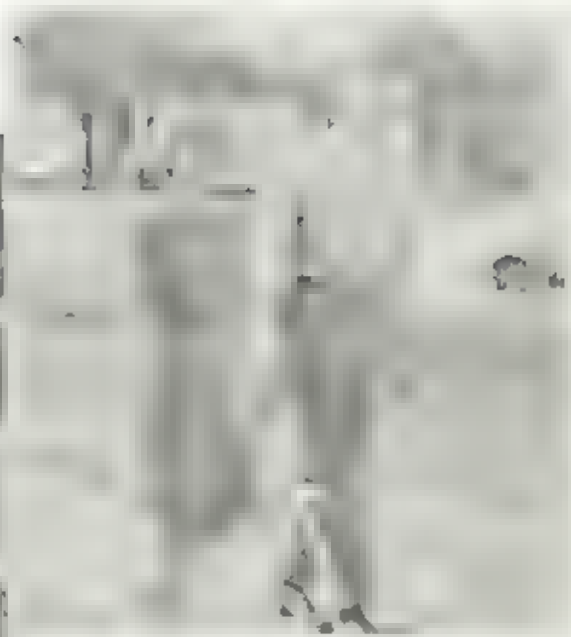

Intelligent Indians

Bringing honor to themselves and to Poky High are Tom Conlin and Mary Martineau, winners of the National Pepsi-Cola Scholarship and State Elk's "Most Valuable Student" Scholarship respectively. Both students are regarded highly by fellow-class mates and the faculty.

A pause before class while they soak up some of Ol'Sol's rays are the officers of Honor Society—Julienne Hill, treasurer, Eva Woolley, vice-president, Phyllis Rinker, secretary, and Naomi Larsen, president.

Two Poky students who won honors are Jean Howard, winner of the D.A.R. award, and Fred Dykes, winner of the Bausch and Lomb science award. Jean's came through a vote of her classmates and the faculty, and Fred's was based on his science grades and a vote of the teachers in the Science Department. Both are very outstanding and popular students.

Poky High's honor society organization is Honor Society, advised by Miss Vivian Hanson, but which every Indian is proud to claim membership. After earning a high average for one semester and being duly (?) initiated, a student may become a member. Programs and refreshments are prominent at all the Friday noon meetings, and the Indians have enjoyed corned beef, apples and ice cream. Naomi Larsen, president, wrote a clever prophesy, entitled "Ten Years From Now," about the members, which was read at one of the meetings. To climax their active year, as we go to press, the annual Honor Society Banquet is being planned, which will honor members of National Honor Society, as well as Poky High members.

Outlining plans for a party to be held at Cherry Springs we find Ed Berrett, Rev. Ed Cunningham, Allen Blomquist, and LeRoy Frear

"Let's go!" shout the Senior Hi-Y officers, Shozo Murakami, treasurer Roy Hedlund president Larry Young, vice president and Ralph Swisher, secretary

SENIOR HI-Y

With a feeling of need for religion and guidance in future citizenship, a group of senior boys reactivated the Hi-Y, a national organization for boys in high schools.

Wednesday evening at 7:30, December 11, the group aided by the American Legion Auxiliary gathered Christmas gifts for wounded soldiers. A campaign was carried into every home room, and the students co-operated wholeheartedly. Those who didn't contribute were asked not to attend the assembly, "Russian Salad," held during the week.

Further carrying the spirit, the club contributed ten dollars to the Cancer Drive which was held in the spring. All felt that anything that could be done to aid such a worthy cause should be attended to immediately.

An activity in which the fellows took part was selling of concessions at a university basketball game, a new experience, but fun for all. A project, visiting other churches in the city by the organization as a whole, which was attempted but discontinued after several sessions, proved that each fellow felt that he should attend his own church.

With the buzz of the senior year always calling for the attention of most of the members, the organization was unable to function very actively; but, the fellowship and guidance experienced in those meetings did bring satisfaction to most of the members.

"How!" says our little Indian, "I live up to the standards of clean speech, clean living, clean athletics and good scholarship!" By this boast, we know that he has been taken into the tribe known as Hi-Y. The third of the four Hi-Y clubs is Junior Hi-Y, headed by Chief Paul Ewer. Many events head their program roster, with more to come at the end of the year. Taking to the trail in October, the officers attended a conference at Idaho Falls. Again rising in the limelight in the Santa Claus season, the officers gave a merry Christmas party December 21 at the Y, at which games and ice cream were the main attractions.

To show that clean athletics enters into their scheme of things, they held a basketball tournament at the Y in which each warrior had a chance to compete for the honor of being champion hoopster, with a great deal of competition aroused. Gathering together all the tribesmen from southeastern Idaho, they will hold the annual older boys conference at Blackfoot where fun and seriousness will mingle. With the YMCA as their meeting place, they carried out their program under the direction of Mr. Stauber. It should be evident that Hi-Y is an organization for the promotion of high ideals of Christian life and character.

FRESHMAN HI-Y

The Freshman Hi-Y is the beginning of the Hi-Y group of clubs so necessary to every up-and-coming high school. With its purpose of promoting clean sportsmanship, building good character, and studying democratic principles, it develops leadership in the boys at an early age. Here we have the future good citizens of our town, these boys now learning good citizenship as they are becoming big Pocotello Indians who will soon be given their war bonnets. They can sit in the tepees of their elders and then hunt the buffalo. In other words, one day they will be the doctors, lawyers, and Indian chiefs of Pocotello.

The club met at the Y every Monday noon for lunch and discussion. At some of the meetings, outside speakers were brought in. Judge Lund and Mr. Alma Marley discussed modern problems with them. Such topics as delinquency, universal training, and sports have been discussed. The club will be represented at the Oiler Boys Conference.

The Sophomore Hi-Y is the second step in the Hi-Y collection of clubs promoting leadership among the boys who are interested in joining them. They are a lively group of fellows, whose first interests are basketball and other sports. They are congenial and fun-loving; yet have some serious ideas, too, on what they want to get out of life and on what they wish to contribute to the welfare of others. To help them formulate their projects, prominent men have been on their programs; among them are Judge Isaac McDougall, Judge Willard Lund, and Mr. Dick Wells.

The club, though small, is representative. It sent its officers to the Hi-Y Convention in Idaho Falls last fall. A swimming party is on the program for this spring we learn as we go to press. The meeting place is the Y with Mr. Stauber the adviser. The time for meeting is Friday noon. And the little Indian now puts on his war paint just to see how he looks.

Every freshman carrying Latin in the college preparatory course is a potential member of the Freshman Latin Club. Not all these candidates join, for various reasons; but the club attracts a good group of smart and peppy freshmen who plan their own programs both serious and absurd. On the serious side are the reports on Roman times and customs; on the more frivolous, are the games, quizzes, and stunts. Screams of laughter can be heard issuing forth from Room 126 when one of these fun-fests is in progress. Miss Smitham, the adviser, helps to think up clever poems to be translated into Latin. Can't help wondering how "Chickerie, chick, che-la, che-la" would look in studied Latin participles and gerunds. But perhaps the freshmen prefer their myths and legends, which are more appropriate. When these students become future men and women of Pocatello they will be able to say, "I got my start back in Poky in the Latin Club."

With a classical background the officers of Freshman S.P.Q.R. lead their organization through a successful year. With a brief pause before the school, we snap their picture; they are Leo Gill, vice-president; Nancy Harrison, treasurer; Janis Burton, secretary; and Francis King, president.

The Sophomore Latin Club membership is comprised of the second year students who continue to pursue the language of the ancient classics. The girls apparently outnumber the boys in pursuing the background of the dead and honored Romans. The club meets once every two weeks. At that time the modern, streamlined corridor and Room 126 take on the dignity of the days of the Caesars. Togas and flowing robes (sheets!) are probably worn at their banquets, for such was the dress of the Portia, the Calpurnia, the Quintus, or the Marcus of ancient times. When the students have become familiar with Latin words and derivations, they have learned a great deal about their own mother tongue, for our dictionary would shrink considerably if all Latin words were deleted. Latin, too, the club members say, helps one's observation and reasoning. That fact accounts for their intelligent programs which Miss Smitham, the adviser, helps to plan.

Dear Parents

The young businessmen and businesswomen of P. K. High pose on the steps before going to the football field to sell hot dogs. Front row left to right: Phyllis Rinker, Joan Langley, La Wanda Howard, June McMillan, Darlene Jensen, Ruby Kierper. Second row left to right: Miss Maxine Statter, Sally Rae Horrocks, Irene Erickson, Lee Ann Hawkes, Marilyn Harmon, Myra Simpson. Third row left to right: Robert Kirkendall, Duane Harrison, Joan Hatch, Velma W. Ivertan, Lois Hill. Fourth row left to right: Wilfred Emond, Dorothy Nelson, Zola Morier, Pat Kinder, Gwen Mansfield, Bruce Knight.

Gwen Mansfield, secretary, Robert Kirkendall, business manager, and Miss Maxine Statter, adviser, have just sold an old for the district tournament program to Myron Purges at R and G Jewelers.

JUNIOR C. OF C.

Hot dogs! Candy! Chewing gum! (am I kidding?) And do the spectators love to buy from these Chamber of Commerce III vendors, the only Indian warriors who have the courage to tackle the milling mobs and shouting students who demand food and drink at the football games. With the wampum they collect from this enterprise, the club bought and installed a dictophone for the use of the whole business department. Several informal parties, one of them at Steve's Bowling Alley, made up the social program of the year. Gee, this club was really on the ball!

When the district tournament rolled around the last week in February, the C. of C. III tackled a really big job, that of editing and selling the programs. Many oh's and ah's greeted the program sellers as the fans bought their brightly colored pamphlet. This undertaking by the way, brought a handsome profit. And now, you say the purpose of the club is obvious: to give the members a chance for a practical application of what they learn in such classes as office practice or office machines. They take part in business situations which call for accuracy and a knowledge of accounting. Let's give a war-whoop for these tycoons of the future!

"Ki-yi-yi, heap big club!" says our little Indian as he passes the tepee of Curtain Club, the dramatic group for the underclassmen. Is he listening for the "Indian Love Call," or a recitation of "Hiawatha?" The emotional chiaroscuro is undertaken by Miss McGough, who inspires the best that young actors can offer. Characters as diverse as the murderers of Banquo and the lords and ladies of English drawing rooms have been satisfactorily imitated. Carpentry work, make-up, diction, stagecraft—all are in their program. With upperclassmen as directors, they have staged almost a dozen different one-acts. Everyone who tries out gets a chance to take part in at least one play. After being presented in the speech room, if it is good enough, it will go on the boards in the auditorium.

Besides giving plays in acceptable form, the Curtain Club has ambitions to develop a "little theatre" which will have all the equipment of the auditorium stage; they feel that even a small cast needs a fully equipped stage. To that end, they are now working with a good deal of enthusiasm.

"We killed him; let's scam!" say Zeras Beasley and Duane Farnes in a skit from "Macbeth," leaving the murdered Banquo (in real life, Richard Hammond) on the steps, as viewed by Curtain Club officers Rita Hartland, vice-president; and Jack Swanson, president.

CURTAIN CLUB

"Don't move or I'll shoot!" threatens Bill Paulson, pointing his gun toward Jack Swanson, in one of the dramatic scenes from the Curtain Club play, "Russian Salad," which was presented in assembly. The amazed onlookers are Keith Reynolds, Maxine Seamons, Rita Hartland, and Norma McLeod.

The girls own the place for the coming Girl Reserve officers Virginia Roscoe secretary Ruth Robinson vice president Bonnie Burns, president and Jessie Hoenbeck, treasurer as they discuss the Mother Daughter Banquet

GIRL RESERVES

This cheerful tribe consisting of freshman and sophomore girls, has enjoyed an active social calendar in activities this year, highlighted by several plays a recognition service and a lovely Mother Daughter Banquet held at the Y W C A. Led by Miss Bowler their goal has been service and worthwhile development. Presided over by Bonnie Burns each member has kept the wide reputation of Girl Reserve high at Poky High.

ARTS AND CRAFTS

Skillfully wielding brush and war paint to make all kinds of posters and designs are the members of Arts and Crafts, guided by Miss King. This year the club has worked on world peace posters for the Victory Poster Contest sponsored by the Latham Foundation costume designs for Scholastic awards puppy posters chip carving tooled leather purses, and shell costume jewelry, making 1946 an active year for Poky artists.

The officers of Arts and Crafts relax after finishing their entries for the Poppy Poster Contest. They are Gerry Davis secretary and treasurer Shirley Jensen president and Mickie Nakashima, vice president.

Speech Laurels

Senior orations officially began during the second six weeks of the first semester in history and English classes, Miss Hoffman being the chief inspiration and guide.

It has become traditional now for the seniors to write speeches on the Constitution, this year's topic being "The Constitution, Guardian of the People's Rights." Of the 300 students writing, about 60 memorized and delivered their speeches. The ten best were selected by judges, Miss Evans, Mrs. Scott, and Mrs. Gunnell. From these ten—Bill Nichols, Shirley Ball, Gene Dalton, Dick Brown, Shirley Monroe, Joan Ziebarth, Duane Dudley, Con Carver, Pat West, and Herman McDevitt—4 finalists were selected by a committee appointed by Mr. Bangs, contest chairman. They were Con Carver, Gene Dalton, Pat West, and Herman McDevitt. At the Memorial Hall, Gene Dalton was selected to represent us in the district.

Students taking sociology or economics wrote Red Cross orations. Many went to meetings of civic organizations and delivered their messages of mercy. The finalists were Jacquie Overturf, Dick Brown, and Zina Madison.

Top man with an exceptionally original oration and a compelling delivery. Gene won not only the district but also the state contest.

Messengers of mercy prepared addresses for the support of the Red Cross to be delivered to the student body. Leading the drive were Zina Madison, Dick Brown, and Jacquie Overturf.

Before the finals were run off at the Memorial Hall, Con Carver, Gene Dalton, Pat West, and Herman McDevitt, all outstanding orators, enjoyed being competitors.

Dear Sirs: We have up to us the Lib. This about the year

Well, High School Students The War is over and we are trying to get on the road to reconversion and back to normal! We have much to do and will need all your help.

We will need to save and quit extravagant spending and start paying off the War Debts. We hope it won't be too hard on the younger generations. Anyway let's all work together and do the best job we can. You young folks will play a large part in this work. We need your strength and your young minds, your tireless energy and your brain power.

Remember the Pocatello Lumber Company is wholeheartedly back of all your fine efforts in this direction.

We extend to you our sincere thanks for your patriotic efforts in all the drives, in Harvest work for the farmers and all the other good things you have done during the War years. We are proud of you for these things.

How much light is enough to get Good Grades?

● Here is one benefit you can easily give your children—Better Lighting. The plain truth is that many children do their lessons reluctantly because their eyes rebel at the hard work of trying to see under poor illumination. In many homes studying is done under lighting measuring only two to five footcandles.

Help your children keep their priceless possession. Keep their eyes young. Provide them with modern light for study—a lamp using at least a 100-watt bulb, or preferably one equipped with the 100-200-300-watt size.

Well, Harriet, it's been a long time. I know that I will always be able to look back with joy on these days that I have been going with you. I remember them for being such wonderful days. My last year in high school couldn't have been more perfect, thanks to the wonderful times we've had with each other at the school dances and other affairs. We went to the prom, and I'm proud to have known you. I feel that I am a better person for having gone with you, Harriet, and I want you to believe that I really appreciate all you have done for me. I'm proud that we've been able to "stick it out" with each other for such a long time. I think you know what I mean when I say it gives me a sense of triumph of the many. It gives me a realization that we've gone through our level is. Whatever may come between us, Harriet, I hope from the bottom of my heart that our friendship
